The Highly Popular Horoscope Method of 12 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 75('Valet' of Wands) :

The 1st Card: It indicates all general matters of personal nature, and your chief concerns.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed beautiful young boy (or girl) standing in a country setting by holding a wand - which is a bit taller than him - in both of his hands in front of him, and is looking at its top end. His attitude is casual and posture is relaxed. It indicates a person of sensitive nature, but he/ she is faithful - although somewhat lacking in maturity and experience. This card signifies that you can look forward to receive some pleasant news or a message from a young relative or a friend; or it may have some connection with your profession/ business. If this card appears in upright posture, then you will feel relaxed and remain free from worry. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then the news might be from- or about- your rival or competitor, and as such it can be a source of worry to you. Either way, this card normally does not indicate a very unfavorable outcome; therefore, you must not give up your hopes.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 75 (= 'Valet' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. The present time-period is not favorable. If you are having travel plans, then it will be rather better to postpone them. Otherwise, you are likely to meet with many troubles on the way. Besides, you may face some difficulties with-, or in connection with-, a teenage child - probably a boy.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should remain very careful and cautious, and must consider all pros and cons before taking any major decision. You must also try your level best to avoid any possibility of conflict - if you don't wish to have complications of serious sort. If you are concerned about someone else, then a chance of receiving a startling bad news hangs on.

Card 2 - 62('Knight' of Pentacles) :

The 11nd Card: It indicates your money-matters, family-members and the things you value most.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Knight' of Pentacles. It is shown as a able-bodied young man of adventurous spirit sitting on a horseback; he is dressed as a merchant, and holding a glittering coin - which is balanced on it's edge and resting on his right palm. The knight is exhibiting the coin, but not seriously contemplating at it. The horse is at parade rest, and the knight is brave and demanding; he is a person having great capacities and potentials, and he is fully aware of it. But as he is not much experienced, he is impatient, and less willing to assume his responsibilities. If his expectations have not been fulfilled, then a quarrel is likely to erupt soon, and the knight is prepared to depart. Often this card means arrival or departure of a demanding person, with possibility of a quarrel, and breaking of a relationship. If this card appears in upside down posture, then it may signify a idle, careless, negligent, or irresponsible person - who might be discouraged, or removed from position, or he might leave on his own.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 62 (= 'Knight' of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. You are probably facing some problems owing to somebody else's lack of foresight; probably your own people are clinging to their status quo, and are quite reluctant to take unnecessary risk. Some time will be needed to change their attitude. For the time being, it will better for you not to force the issue.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 12. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies sacrifice of some sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not at all favorable. You should and must remain very careful, cautious, and always on the alert. In your circle, you may have some secret enemies in disguise as friends, who are trying to distance you from your true friends and supporters. There might be some design or intrigue in the background. If you do not act wisely, then you may end up becoming a victim, and have to pay a high price.

Card 3 - 38(Two of Cups) :

The IIIrd Card: It indicates general day-to-day activities, and correspondence/ communications.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 2 of Cups. This signifies 'The Sacred Cord'. It is shown by two cups with rounded base are kept side by side, and in the middle a lily in full bloom is held in the hand; all are in upright positions. In the background, there is a painting in which a couple of swans are seen in close embrace; they are together dipping their bills in another lily in full bloom, gleefully they are enjoying sipping nectar. The meaning is obviously very clear. It indicates a peaceful and harmonious relationship between two persons. In case of love or marriage, a perfectly conjugate happy union is indicated. It may be a case of partnership/ collaboration also - in which case, it will bring in success, growth and prosperity. Either way, it signifies a cordial and lasting relationship.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 38 (= 2 of Cups) appears in upside down posture. You should think twice before arriving at any agreement or forming any relationship or partnership with someone in immediate future. You must at first gather full information about the things involved, and consider all pros and cons - before putting your signature in any contract; it is not at all a favorable time for giving any commitment.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 2. This symbolizes imagination, harmony, union, fertility, and possibility of conception. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, it indicates that there is something wrong in a recently introduced new factor, like a person, or a place, or a thing, or circumstances - from which you are less likely to derive any benefit in near future.

Card 4 - 45(Nine of Cups) :

The IVth Card: It indicates your house or home, property, comfort, peace of mind, satisfaction, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 9 of Cups. This signifies 'The Rainbow Mirror'. It is shown as a set of nine cups is held in a frame, and a man's right hand held in the form of a fist with thumb raised is at the base of the frame; on the bottom of the frame, there is symbol of planet Jupiter in the left hand side, and symbol of zodiacal sign Pisces on the right hand side. Termed as 'Material Happiness', this card singularly emphasizes uninterrupted prosperity. It is a card of triumph, victory, harmony, growth, complete success, and total fulfillment. All of your plans will produce results, some of your cherished desires will be fulfilled, and a few of your ambitions will be realized. If some unfavorable cards appear in the same spread, then they can at the worst indicate some impediments causing retardation of the progress temporarily only - those will be sorted out pretty soon. All the people and things are in your favor, and dame fortune will surely bless you with plenty and abundance.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 9. It symbolizes finalization, completeness, inevitable outcome, etc; it also signifies originality, initiative, and drive - but at the same time it also indicates naivety and vulnerability. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are very favorable for you. Your circumstances might be like that even if a thing has already reached their concluding state, you can still have an opportunity to improve its condition by being active and expending your efforts.

Card 5 - 36('King' of Swords) :

The Vth Card: It indicates your lover, creativity, entertainment, pleasure, speculation, risks, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'King' of Swords. It is often shown as a matured male person wearing a masculine crown and regal robes - sitting on a throne with an upright naked sword in his right hand as a symbol of his authority and power. His face is grim, and his left hand is resting on his left thigh in a closed fist manner indicating resolution. He stares like a brave lion in a ready-to-attack mood, and his gesture is to kill anyone who might cause his displeasure. He is not a symbol of justice, since he is concerned about furthering his own interests. This card indicates that you might be in a very dangerous position by getting into difficulties with a powerful authority. Immediately getting away from the place will be the best thing advisable for you.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 14. This number is indicative of fortune, but at the same time it also signifies challenges that bring in changes. You should remain on concrete grounds - depending on your own self, and not relying on other people's assistance or support. Besides, you should remain very careful while dealing with persons of authority and power. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are quite favorable for you. You would gain recognition for your superlative qualities, and might be duly rewarded for utilizing those efficiently.

Card 6 - 77('Queen' of Wands) :

The VIth Card: It indicates health/ disease, relatives, general occupation, routine work, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Queen' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed matured lady of honorable disposition is seated on a throne wearing a feminine crown - by holding a wand on her right hand, and a sunflower with a long stem on her left. The wand is taller than her, but she is not looking at it; she is looking forward with an intelligent, friendly, confiding gesture. She is in relaxed mood, conscious about her position, and at ease with herself. This card signifies a wealthy lady - who had acquired the financial standing herself. She is generous, loving, kind, sensible, and practical in case of relationships. If the enquirer is a male person, then this card may signify his wife or would-be wife; but if the enquirer is a female person, then it will mean a long-time friend and confidante. If this card indicates a situation, then it indicates a new venture - for which you will receive financial assistance and advice; by utilizing the qualities you possess, you will be successful in your efforts.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 77 (= 'Queen' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. Be careful if some middle aged rich lady is offering you any encouragement or financial advice. For having too many irons in the fire, she might be concerned about her own interests. As she might be struggling to fulfill her own commitments, she might become desperate enough to make promises she might not be able to fulfill.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 13. This number is indicative of upheaval; but its intrinsic significations are that upheavals bring in some drastic changes, which are very desired. You should remain very careful, and watch your every step. You must not be over-optimistic, avoid taking risky chances, and totally refrain from misusing your power and influence. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. It indicates that malicious forces are at work against you. You may have to battle hard for retaining your position.

Card 7 - 39(Three of Cups) :

The VIIth Card: It indicates your spouse, business-partner, associates, relationships, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 3 of Cups. This signifies 'The Stream of Love'. It is shown by three cups with rounded base - kept vertically one above the other with some gap between the adjacent ones. Also termed as the 'Dressing of the Sacred Spring', this card indicates auspiciousness, and ensures success in forming relationship; it brings in unhindered prosperity in business/ profession - leading to abundance and plenty, and utmost satisfaction. In case of love, it will lead to a happy union - concluding soon in a joyous celebration. There could be an addition to the family by birth or marriage. But if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates merely physical charm, gratification of sensual pleasures, small achievements, insignificant change/ transfer, and minor gains.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 3. This symbolizes assertion, expression, form, direction, etc and offers great scope for having rapid progress. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that circumstances will very soon turn in your favor. Even if the beginning did not appear to bear any promise - the new venture you have recently started or got involved in will proceed very well - from which you are sure to derive much of benefit in near future.

Card 8 - 35('Queen' of Swords) :

The VIIIth Card: It indicates joint ventures, money from bank or partner, physical intimacy, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Queen' of Swords. It is shown as a matured lady wearing a feminine crown and regal robes - sitting on a throne with an upright naked sword in her right hand as a symbol of her authority and power - which she uses for furthering her own interests. Her face is grim, and her left hand is raised in a gesture of delivering ruthless and cruel judgment. She is malicious, domineering, selfish, or spiteful. It is a symbol of possible personal loss of a dear relative, and helplessly falling in an emotionally devastating situation. This card indicates possibility of having intimate relationship with a middle-aged lady (or a young girl) whose family is very powerful, and it may lead to grave danger. So, look before you leap.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 35 (= 'Queen' of Swords) appears in upside down posture. You should therefore remain very careful and cautious, and avoid any possibility to get entangled into direct confrontation with a tricky, malicious, spiteful, and dictatorial middle aged lady - who is extremely selfish, resentful, manipulative, or even cruel; she might be a nasty gossip-monger, or propaganda-specialist - who excels in hiding her faults, and blames others for anything gone wrong.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 13. This number is indicative of upheaval; but its intrinsic significations are that upheavals bring in some drastic changes, which are very desired. You should remain very careful, and watch your every step. You must not be over-optimistic, avoid taking risky chances, and totally refrain from misusing your power and influence. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. It indicates that malicious forces are at work against you. You may have to battle hard for retaining your position.

Card 9 - 20(The last Judgment) :

The IXth Card: It indicates higher education, challenges, foreign trade, general fortune, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This is Trumps Card # 20. It stands for 'Karma', or the last Judgment (Le Jugement). It corresponds to the Hebrew letter 'Resh'. It represent the clearing of all doubts, and arriving at the final and conclusive decision. It indicates highly favorable results, and fruitful outcome; and it heralds the beginning of a new prosperous life. It will surely bring in a complete change, and certainly the conditions will be improved for the better by far. It is pictured as a divine figure of an winged angel, blowing on the victory trumpet, by leaning from a cloud - while below down the nude human figures of two or three persons - male and female both - being wonder-struck are looking above with the expression of awe clearly evident on their faces.

Symbolic Significations of the Card :

The Resurrection: Spiritual awakening, genius, aspiration, new regime, work, occupation, utility.

Allegorical Significations of the Card :

Denoted by 'The Resurrection'. It signifies that you are going to evolve and attain a higher spiritual plane. Your erstwhile consciousness and personal perceptions shall be dissolved to make way for deepest possible understanding. As you have crossed the final stage of knowledge, you are going to be resurrected to a completely new stage; you will realize that you are in a position to comprehend the incomprehensible. In the grand scheme of lifecycle, you are entering a new aeon; and it will happen to you naturally and beautifully. You must not be afraid of the change that is going to take place; as you have ascended by your own right, you are sure the get the rewards due.

In the shuffle, the Card #20 appears in inverted (or upside down) position - thereby indicating the possibility of a not-so-favorable outcome. You may have got into difficulties with some person or may have developed strong differences with some close relation. Some undesired developments might make you worried, and you may think that you may had taken a wrong decision, or adopted a stern stand on some issue; you may also consider about softening your stand - for offering your adversary a second chance. But it would rather be more advisable for you to safeguard your interests; even severance of ties is a better option than arriving at a compromise with such people - who wants to cheat or rob you.

Card 10 - 74(Ten of Wands) :

The Xth Card: It indicates goals, ambitions, reputation, credibility, honor, business/ profession, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 10 of Wands. This signifies 'The Way of the Cross'. It is shown as ten thick wands are neatly arranged in a row with one end of each wand dug into the ground; at the background, a pagoda-like structure is seen, and the set of wands is serving as a fence for dispelling undesired intruders. This card is considered auspicious, but it has a double meaning; it will protect you like an angel as long as you deserve to be guarded. You should therefore have a very clear idea about the extent of your abilities, and must also know your limitations. If you are wise and prudent, then you are destined to extract large gains from even highly speculative stakes; but once you lose your level-headedness, and start being governed by greed and desire, then you may start declining downhill all on a sudden. This card can wipe off your all in a single go. If this card appears in upside down posture, then you should remain more careful and cautious; you may face difficulties owing to intrigues, and the possibility of facing a lawsuit might also hang on.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 74 (= 10 of Wands) appears in upside down posture. Your current situation may appear to be insurmountable. You may start feeling very helpless; for not knowing where to turn to, you may tend to give in and start believing that all you can do is to endure. You must reconsider your position, and change your views; why not look for some other alternatives? If you have the courage and confidence, you will soon be able to break the shackles and soar above.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 10. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies extremities - very good or very bad, steep rise or precipitous fall, love or hate, arrogance or fear, etc. It does not offer any sort of middling or neutral result. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. First of all, you should reconsider your position and decisions for ensuring that you are not committing any major mistake - which could bring in serious troubles for you. You must remain very careful, cautious, and very alert.

Card 11 - 47('Valet' of Cups) :

The XIth Card: It indicates hobbies, expectations, hopes, own earnings, assistance from friends, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Cups. It is shown as a well-dressed young boy or girl smiling in a happy mood is standing on the ground in a relaxed position - looking at an upright big cup he/ she is holding in his/ her right hand in admiration. The cup contains something. He/ She appears to be waiting for someone for delivering the cup or its contents to him/ her. This card symbolizes auspiciousness. It indicates receiving a message, or arrival of a good-natured sensitive person of similar description (son/ daughter or brother/ sister) - who would gladly render some important service to you for your benefit. At times it indicates birth of a child or an idea, starting of a prospective enterprise with the help of someone.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are still quite favorable for you. Even if there is conflict, you can look forward to having it resolved by your own initiative. A relative or a friend will actively assist you in this regard; alternately, it might be resolved owing to unexpected change of circumstances. If you are concerned about someone else, then very soon you will receive very surprising good news.

Card 12 - 40(Four of Cups) :

The XIIth Card: It indicates jealous people, secret enemies, secrets, fears, wasteful expenses, etc.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 4 of Cups. This signifies 'The Flood'. It is shown by four cups kept in four corners with a hand holding a long stemmed flower in full bloom in the center. In the left hand bottom corner, there is the symbol of Moon, and in the right hand bottom corner, there is the symbol of sign Cancer. It therefore has something to do with the mind, sentiment, home, comfort, etc. Termed as 'Blended Pleasure', this card is said to be a card of friendly counsel or mother's guidance; it is an indication of mild warning - which insists on for changing your negative outlook. Owing to your own dissatisfaction, you may refrain from recognizing or appreciating an advantage. In case of love or marriage, ask yourself if you like to become a lone old eagle? If your answer is not affirmative, then get rid of your discontent, and enjoy some sugar and honey of life.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 4. This symbolizes basic understanding, careful planning, hard work, etc; it is quite queer that it also signifies sudden and unexpected developments. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that you will derive much of benefit owing to sudden change of circumstances. But you should remain alert and prepared. If you can understand the situation well, able to plan carefully, and willing to work hard, then you will very soon see the dawn of prosperity.

Overall Conclusion :

In this TAROT shuffle of 12 Cards' spread (Horoscope method), 9 or more Minor Arcana Cards have appeared. These cards cover the mundane affairs; so, it appears that you are concerned about the real life situations. This Card corresponds to Ace (= 1) of Wands. This signifies 'The Dawn'. It is shown as a large and strong hand appearing from a cloud is holding a club-shaped wand having a heavy knob at its free end. Leaves and branches are sprouting from the wand - which indicates new growth in spite of being cut off from its root. It symbolizes strength of will, courage, and determination to put up a hard fight if necessary. The meaning is clear: it indicates the birth of an idea or a business, the beginning of a new enterprise. It indicates possible inheritance or receiving liberal assistance. This card brings in the feelings of contentment and triumph - since it ensures that the person possesses the ability to become successful in his endeavors. It may entail breaking of bonds - but that will be in a positive and practical way; it is more likely to be an escape to freedom - by putting aside all restraints, and without looking back. But if this card appears in upside down posture, then it may signify lack of confidence, ability, or information - which might lead to a disastrous failure.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained an 'Ace' card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 1. This symbolizes creativity, signifies beginning, and offers much of scope for original action. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, an auspicious beginning is indicated - which is likely to bring in a favorable outcome for you in the long run.

Card 5 - 33('Valet' of Swords) :

The 5th Card: This Card is behind you. It indicates the influences operating from the past.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Swords. Shown as a less mature young boy or girl - who is not armored, but is well dressed and holding a naked sword in upright position, and waving it in a ready to attack posture. The person is not very powerful, but he/ she is prying, spiteful, and malicious individual. Whereas the experienced Knight can risk his own life for defending someone else's life or honor, the Valet of Swords is a worthless pretender - who can cause serious harm to an unarmed or weaker person, only to show that he/ she is no less powerful - being confident of getting away unscathed owing to having his/ her connection with the powers. This card indicates presence of a false friend in your circle - who is a master of innuendo and underhand actions, and signifies possibility of betrayal, treachery, deception, or spread of rumor.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are still quite favorable for you. Even if there is conflict, you can look forward to having it resolved by your own initiative. A relative or a friend will actively assist you in this regard; alternately, it might be resolved owing to unexpected change of circumstances. If you are concerned about someone else, then very soon you will receive very surprising good news.

Card 6 - 72(Eight of Wands) :

The 6th Card: This Card is before you. It indicates the nature of past events/ happenings.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 8 of Wands. This signifies 'The Power Shield'. It is shown as an eight-storied castle-like tall structure - with a wand sticking out from either side of the roof-level of every floor. This is a very auspicious card, and it ensures speedy progress in all your efforts, and success in all your endeavors. The time is ripe for you; but don't be precipitate, you have to become more and more active - for your own good. It is not just a single upcoming event to look forward to - but a series of events in rapid succession is going to overwhelm you. In matters pertaining to business and finance, you will be exceptionally successful; if you are engaged in service, then you will be raised to a more prestigious position, your social position will improve, and your credibility and honor will also increase considerably. If you are expecting to succeed in a love affair, then also there will be nobody and nothing to let you down. If this card appears in upside down posture, then you may face internal disputes or quarrels with your spouse or business-partner owing to jealous feelings.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 72 (= 8 of Wands) appears in upside down posture. Various obstacles and impediments are probably retarding your progress, and you might have become worried. The time-period is not favorable. Before engaging yourself in doing something new, you must reconsider the pros and cons. If you are having any travel plans, then it will be more advisable for you to postpone them.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 8. It symbolizes caution, discipline, wisdom gained through experience, ability, efficiency, prudence, farsightedness, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You may be given some burdensome responsibilities, and may have to face challenging circumstances. In spite of best of your efforts, you may not be successful in your efforts. You may feel very sad, and your mind might become filled with despair.

Card 7 - 62('Knight' of Pentacles) :

The 7th Card: This Card represents you. It indicates your feelings and reactions to situation.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Knight' of Pentacles. It is shown as a able-bodied young man of adventurous spirit sitting on a horseback; he is dressed as a merchant, and holding a glittering coin - which is balanced on its edge and resting on his right palm. The knight is exhibiting the coin, but not seriously contemplating at it. The horse is at parade rest, and the knight is brave and demanding; he is a person having great capacities and potentials, and he is fully aware of it. But as he is not much experienced, he is impatient, and less willing to assume his responsibilities. If his expectations have not been fulfilled, then a quarrel is likely to erupt soon, and the knight is prepared to depart. Often this card means arrival or departure of a demanding person, with possibility of a quarrel, and breaking of a relationship. If this card appears in upside down posture, then it may signify a idle, careless, negligent, or irresponsible person - who might be discouraged, or removed from position, or he might leave on his own.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 12. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies sacrifice of some sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are very favorable for you. A friend or a relative is likely to favor you unexpectedly, and act unselfishly on your behalf for your own good. There might be some design or intrigue in the background - which you may or may not be aware of, but it might be of some concern to you regardless of whether you wish or not. You will become wiser, and receive indirect benefit from these all.

Card 8 - 45(Nine of Cups) :

The 8th Card: This Card indicates your house. It indicates the outside influences.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 9 of Cups. This signifies 'The Rainbow Mirror'. It is shown as a set of nine cups is held in a frame, and a man's right hand held in the form of a fist with thumb raised is at the base of the frame; on the bottom of the frame, there is symbol of planet Jupiter in the left hand side, and symbol of zodiacal sign Pisces on the right hand side. Termed as 'Material Happiness', this card singularly emphasizes uninterrupted prosperity. It is a card of triumph, victory, harmony, growth, complete success, and total fulfillment. All of your plans will produce results, some of your cherished desires will be fulfilled, and a few of your ambitions will be realized. If some unfavorable cards appear in the same spread, then they can at the worst indicate some impediments causing retardation of the progress temporarily only - those will be sorted out pretty soon. All the people and things are in your favor, and dame fortune will surely bless you with plenty and abundance.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 9. It symbolizes finalization, completeness, inevitable outcome, etc; it also signifies originality, initiative, and drive - but at the same time it also indicates naivety and vulnerability. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are very favorable for you. Your circumstances might be like that even if a thing has already reached their concluding state, you can still have an opportunity to improve its condition by being active and expending your efforts.

Card 9 - 75('Valet' of Wands) :

The 9th Card: This Card indicates your hopes, fears, desires, and expectations.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed beautiful young boy (or girl) standing in a country setting by holding a wand - which is a bit taller than him - in both of his hands in front of him, and is looking at its top end. His attitude is casual and posture is relaxed. It indicates a person of sensitive nature, but he/ she is faithful - although somewhat lacking in maturity and experience. This card signifies that you can look forward to receive some pleasant news or a message from a young relative or a friend; or it may have some connection with your profession/ business. If this card appears in upright posture, then you will feel relaxed and remain free from worry. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then the news might be from- or about- your rival or competitor, and as such it can be a source of worry to you. Either way, this card normally does not indicate a very unfavorable outcome; therefore, you must not give up your hopes.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are still quite favorable for you. Even if there is conflict, you can look forward to having it resolved by your own initiative. A relative or a friend will actively assist you in this regard; alternately, it might be resolved owing to unexpected change of circumstances. If you are concerned about someone else, then very soon you will receive very surprising good news.

Card 10 - 10(The Wheel of Fortune) :

The 10th Card: This Card indicates the final resolution, and probable outcome.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This is Trumps Card # 10. It stands for The Wheel of Fortune (La Roue de Fortune). It corresponds to the Hebrew letter 'Yod'. It represents the chance happenings, which can suddenly bring in drastic changes in a person's life - either for too good or too bad. Either the steep rise by having unexpected gift of abundance and plenty, or the ill fated precipitous fall of extreme severity - over which the person can never be able to exercise any control. It is pictured as a wheel - sometimes its axle is supported by two upright structures, sometimes the wheel is at the edge of a cliff. On one side one is ascending the wheel, on the other side one is descending, while yet another one seated on a throne at the top in royal robes and rejoicing mood is unknowingly running the risk of being suddenly thrown off the balance anytime in immediate future.

Symbolic Significations of the Card :

The Sphinx: Wheel of fortune. Denotes cause and effect, and the moral law, periodicity, revolution and circulation.

Allegorical Significations of the Card :

Denoted by 'The Wheel of Fortune'. It signifies that you will view the things around you, and try to understand them in proper perspective. In this ephemeral world, where everything keeps changing and nothing lasts long, it is only very sensible to try to comprehend that both sadness and joy are the temporary turbulences of the volatile mind. You should maintain the equilibrium, and stay fully balanced in all respects - in heart, mind, body, and spirit. Fate is changing - ascending for some time, remaining nearly level for some duration, and then declining for long. This change could be brought upon you by your own deeds only; no one else is responsible, and none but you will reap the harvest.

In the shuffle, the Card #10 appears in inverted (or upside down) position - thereby indicating the possibility of a not-so-favorable outcome. Probably you have become worried after having sensing that the problems and challenges are just around the corner. But you can get nowhere by feeling uneasy; you must boldly face the troubles as they come. It is going to be just a test whether you are capable to cope with the varied situations of real life. This passing phase will help you to develop the courage of convictions and the strength of character. The calm and quiet phase of your life may have passed, but the phase of glory is about to dawn; you might be basking in the sun in a joyous mood pretty soon.

Overall Conclusion :

The Modern Maga Diamond method of 10 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 34('Knight' of Swords) :

The 1st Card: It indicates the significator for the issue.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Knight' of Swords. It is shown as a matured, experienced, and strong fearless young man riding a fast-racing horse by holding a naked upright sword in an attacking posture - charging at someone at a distance. He enjoys the support of others - who are ready to assist him for inflicting serious injury to the prey. He is not as powerful as the King or Queen, but he is testing and showing his ability in order to become such a powerful person in future. As such, he is not at all subtle or tactful; rather he is a symbol of wrathfulness and violence. This card is indicative of danger, and signifies the possibility of having violent confrontation with a powerful person - in which case there is no chance of gaining victory or even arriving at a compromise.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 34 (= 'Knight' of Swords) appears in upside down posture. You should therefore remain very careful and cautious, and avoid any possibility to get entangled into direct confrontation with an impatient, headstrong, and powerful young man - who does not have any respect for the opinion of any other person - when it differs from his own. You should therefore try to deal with the situation with diplomacy, tact, prudence, and farsightedness.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 12. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies sacrifice of some sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not at all favorable. You should and must remain very careful, cautious, and always on the alert. In your circle, you may have some secret enemies in disguise as friends, who are trying to distance you from your true friends and supporters. There might be some design or intrigue in the background. If you do not act wisely, then you may end up becoming a victim, and have to pay a high price.

Card 2 - 75('Valet' of Wands) :

The 2nd Card: It reveals the area of weakness or least control.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed beautiful young boy (or girl) standing in a country setting by holding a wand - which is a bit taller than him - in both of his hands in front of him, and is looking at its top end. His attitude is casual and posture is relaxed. It indicates a person of sensitive nature, but he/ she is faithful - although somewhat lacking in maturity and experience. This card signifies that you can look forward to receive some pleasant news or a message from a young relative or a friend; or it may have some connection with your profession/ business. If this card appears in upright posture, then you will feel relaxed and remain free from worry. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then the news might be from- or about- your rival or competitor, and as such it can be a source of worry to you. Either way, this card normally does not indicate a very unfavorable outcome; therefore, you must not give up your hopes.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are still quite favorable for you. Even if there is conflict, you can look forward to having it resolved by your own initiative. A relative or a friend will actively assist you in this regard; alternately, it might be resolved owing to unexpected change of circumstances. If you are concerned about someone else, then very soon you will receive very surprising good news.

Card 3 - 77('Queen' of Wands) :

The 3rd Card: It indicates the area of strength or most control.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Queen' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed matured lady of honorable disposition is seated on a throne wearing a feminine crown - by holding a wand on her right hand, and a sunflower with a long stem on her left. The wand is taller than her, but she is not looking at it; she is looking forward with an intelligent, friendly, confiding gesture. She is in relaxed mood, conscious about her position, and at ease with herself. This card signifies a wealthy lady - who had acquired the financial standing herself. She is generous, loving, kind, sensible, and practical in case of relationships. If the enquirer is a male person, then this card may signify his wife or would-be wife; but if the enquirer is a female person, then it will mean a long-time friend and confidante. If this card indicates a situation, then it indicates a new venture - for which you will receive financial assistance and advice; by utilizing the qualities you possess, you will be successful in your efforts.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 77 (= 'Queen' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. Be careful if some middle aged rich lady is offering you any encouragement or financial advice. For having too many irons in the fire, she might be concerned about her own interests. As she might be struggling to fulfill her own commitments, she might become desperate enough to make promises she might not be able to fulfill.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 13. This number is indicative of upheaval; but its intrinsic significations are that upheavals bring in some drastic changes, which are very desired. You should remain very careful, and watch your every step. You must not be over-optimistic, avoid taking risky chances, and totally refrain from misusing your power and influence. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. It indicates that malicious forces are at work against you. You may have to battle hard for retaining your position.

Card 4 - 48('Knight' of Cups) :

The 4th Card: It indicates the leaving influences.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Knight' of Cups. It is shown as a young man wearing armor and a winged cap is riding a horse. A horn is hanging from his shoulder strap. He is carrying an upright big cup holding it in his right hand in front of him, and looking at it in admiration. The cup contains something of value or importance. The horse is in parade dress and moving in a slow pace. Peaceful and calm countryside is seen in the background. It represents an honest, good natured, intelligent, and a friendly person - who is well disposed to the enquirer. He might be a true lover, or he might be a messenger bringing in happy news. It indicates a true friend, who is not a visionary, but is like a dreamer; he understands people's feelings.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 12. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies sacrifice of some sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are very favorable for you. A friend or a relative is likely to favor you unexpectedly, and act unselfishly on your behalf for your own good. There might be some design or intrigue in the background - which you may or may not be aware of, but it might be of some concern to you regardless of whether you wish or not. You will become wiser, and receive indirect benefit from these all.

Card 5 - 41(Five of Cups) :

The 5th Card: It indicates the coming influences.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 5 of Cups. This signifies 'The Spilling'. It is shown by a set of five cups - four cups kept in four corners, and another cup is lying in the center. This is the card of losses and gains; it is not a very auspicious card. Possibly you may have incurred some losses, or had separation from someone very close - for which you are feeling depressed. You need to change your outlook first; you must not be looking only at the dark side of things. If you can change your attitude, then you may be able to see newer avenues and the opportunities for success and happiness. Often this card indicates a union or joining - it may be a marriage or a partnership; but how well the things will work for you depends much on yourself. This card also signifies indecision; if you do not make up your mind in time, then you may miss some opportunities. Do you wish to have a change of surroundings only to escape from some important matters - which require closer attention? If this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates false promises, unrealistic expectations, bitter experience, frustration, adverse change of surroundings, etc.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 41 (= 5 of Cups) appears in upside down posture. You had probably been reeling under sadness or gloom; on the bright side, this temporary phase will be over pretty soon. Your circumstances and mental condition is going to improve at a fast pace; you will be start feeling happy once again.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 5. It symbolizes excitement, movement, adventure, advancement, victory, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not favorable. You are likely to face some political upheaval, or social disorder, or calamitous cause. Even if you had planned carefully, and worked very hard, yet you may not obtain the expected results. You should therefore stow away adequate provisions for covering the approaching 'rainy' days.

Card 6 - 20(The last Judgment) :

The 6th Card: It indicates the apparent realities.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This is Trumps Card # 20. It stands for 'Karma', or the last Judgment (Le Jugement). It corresponds to the Hebrew letter 'Resh'. It represent the clearing of all doubts, and arriving at the final and conclusive decision. It indicates highly favorable results, and fruitful outcome; and it heralds the beginning of a new prosperous life. It will surely bring in a complete change, and certainly the conditions will be improved for the better by far. It is pictured as a divine figure of an winged angel, blowing on the victory trumpet, by leaning from a cloud - while below down the nude human figures of two or three persons - male and female both - being wonder-struck are looking above with the expression of awe clearly evident on their faces.

Symbolic Significations of the Card :

The Resurrection: Spiritual awakening, genius, aspiration, new regime, work, occupation, utility.

Allegorical Significations of the Card :

Denoted by 'The Resurrection'. It signifies that you are going to evolve and attain a higher spiritual plane. Your erstwhile consciousness and personal perceptions shall be dissolved to make way for deepest possible understanding. As you have crossed the final stage of knowledge, you are going to be resurrected to a completely new stage; you will realize that you are in a position to comprehend the incomprehensible. In the grand scheme of lifecycle, you are entering a new aeon; and it will happen to you naturally and beautifully. You must not be afraid of the change that is going to take place; as you have ascended by your own right, you are sure to get the rewards due.

In the shuffle, the Card #20 appears in inverted (or upside down) position - thereby indicating the possibility of a not-so-favorable outcome. You may have got into difficulties with some person or may have developed strong differences with some close relation. Some undesired developments might make you worried, and you may think that you may have taken a wrong decision, or adopted a stern stand on some issue; you may also consider about softening your stand - for offering your adversary a second chance. But it would rather be more advisable for you to safeguard your interests; even severance of ties is a better option than arriving at a compromise with such people - who want to cheat or rob you.

Card 7 - 62('Knight' of Pentacles) :

The 7th Card: It indicates the deeper realities.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Knight' of Pentacles. It is shown as a able-bodied young man of adventurous spirit sitting on a horseback; he is dressed as a merchant, and holding a glittering coin - which is balanced on its edge and resting on his right palm. The knight is exhibiting the coin, but not seriously contemplating at it. The horse is at parade rest, and the knight is brave and demanding; he is a person having great capacities and potentials, and he is fully aware of it. But as he is not much experienced, he is impatient, and less willing to assume his responsibilities. If his expectations have not been fulfilled, then a quarrel is likely to erupt soon, and the knight is prepared to depart. Often this card means arrival or departure of a demanding person, with possibility of a quarrel, and breaking of a relationship. If this card appears in upside down posture, then it may signify a idle, careless, negligent, or irresponsible person - who might be discouraged, or removed from position, or he might leave on his own.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 12. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies sacrifice of some sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are very favorable for you. A friend or a relative is likely to favor you unexpectedly, and act unselfishly on your behalf for your own good. There might be some design or intrigue in the background - which you may or may not be aware of, but it might be of some concern to you regardless of whether you wish or not. You will become wiser, and receive indirect benefit from these all.

Card 8 - 45(Nine of Cups) :

The 8th Card: It indicates the past happenings.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 9 of Cups. This signifies 'The Rainbow Mirror'. It is shown as a set of nine cups is held in a frame, and a man's right hand held in the form of a fist with thumb raised is at the base of the frame; on the bottom of the frame, there is symbol of planet Jupiter in the left hand side, and symbol of zodiacal sign Pisces on the right hand side. Termed as 'Material Happiness', this card singularly emphasizes uninterrupted prosperity. It is a card of triumph, victory, harmony, growth, complete success, and total fulfillment. All of your plans will produce results, some of your cherished desires will be fulfilled, and a few of your ambitions will be realized. If some unfavorable cards appear in the same spread, then they can at the worst indicate some impediments causing retardation of the progress temporarily only - those will be sorted out pretty soon. All the people and things are in your favor, and dame fortune will surely bless you with plenty and abundance.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 45 (= 9 of Cups) appears in upside down posture. You should remain careful, cautious, and on the alert. You must neither chase any golden goose, nor trust anyone of doubtful integrity. If you can remember the saying that 'All that glitters are not gold', then definitely you will neither face any trouble of serious sort, nor be in for any gross disappointment.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 9. It symbolizes finalization, completeness, inevitable outcome, etc; it also signifies originality, initiative, and drive - but at the same time it also indicates naivety and vulnerability. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You are likely to have overlooked some errors, or inadvertently made some mistakes, in some task you have recently completed. It may have resulted due to distractions caused by someone at the last stages, but you might be held responsible for the disaster.

Card 9 - 42(Six of Cups) :

The 9th Card: It indicates the future happenings.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 6 of Cups. This signifies 'Faith'. It is shown as a set of six cups is held in a frame - which is hung on the wall. Termed as 'In Ector's Keeping', this is the card of sweet memories of the past and looking back in search of happiness. Your experiences due to the prevailing situations of the recent past might have had instilled a growing sense of discontent; it is reflected by this card, and it indicates that you can rediscover happiness. If you are looking back and remembering memories of happiness, then you are probably recalling your childhood days; ask yourself whether you can set the clock back? Don't brood over what you have lost, and try to understand that you can be happy once again. This card signifies the possible entry of someone into your life, or the occurring of some happy event will effect a radical change in your outlook, and you will be able to recognize the good things of life once again.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 6. It symbolizes quiet circumstances, smooth activities, adjustment, balance, etc; it also stands for harmony, love, and romance. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that circumstances will become highly favorable for you. You are likely to acquire the legendary 'Midas Touch', and whatever you will lay your hands on is likely to turn into proverbial gold.

Card 10 - 63('Queen' of Pentacles) :

The 10th Card: It indicates the final resolution, and possible outcome.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Queen' of Pentacles. It is shown as a well-dressed matured healthy female seated on a throne wearing a feminine crown - holding a coin in her right hand for displaying it to the viewer; in her left hand she is holding a scepter as a symbol of her authority and power - but she is in a happy mood as she is smiling. The meaning is clear: it represents a respectable lady of regal/ noble descent - who is a symbol of wisdom, prudence, wealth, and security; she is also fully conscious of her authority and power - both for bestowing rewards and awarding punishment. It describes a comfortable situation in perfect order - with financial security and prudent management of financial affairs. It represents hope in the form of inherited and acquired abilities, and also the awareness of possessing the abilities - with which all the obstacles and impediments can be overcome. However, if this card appears in the upside down posture, then it indicates a lady of suspicious nature; or a situation that is full of suspense, suspicion, and fear of evil.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 13. This number is indicative of upheaval; but its intrinsic significations are that upheavals bring in some drastic changes, which are very desired. You should remain very careful, and watch your every step. You must not be over-optimistic, avoid taking risky chances, and totally refrain from misusing your power and influence. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are quite favorable for you. You are not at all likely to be at all affected anyway by the stormy goings-on around you - which will subside soon.

Overall Conclusion :

In this TAROT shuffle of 10 Cards' spread, 7 or more Minor Arcana Cards have appeared. These cards cover the mundane affairs; so, it appears that you are concerned about the real life situations. As this class of cards indicative of relatively minor issues, it appears that you are not very much concerned about some matter of serious sort. The nature of outcome is less likely to have any strong effect on you.

In this TAROT shuffle of 10 Cards' spread, 3 or more Minor Arcana 'Face' Cards have appeared. As this sub-class of cards indicates persons of some standing, it appears that you are very much concerned about dealing with some powerful and/ or influential persons. The nature of outcome is likely to have strong effect on you.

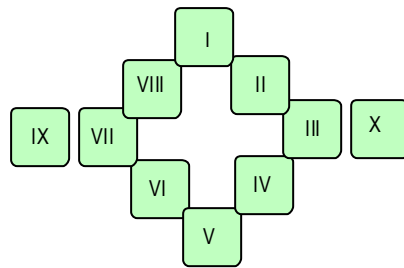

In this TAROT shuffle of 10 Cards' spread, 3 or more Minor Arcana 'Cups' Cards have appeared. These cards cover the mundane affairs; so, it appears that you are concerned about the real life situations. As these cards have governance over the profound emotions, you are probably concerned about material possessions, belongings, cherished desires, creative talents, gifts, etc; although you might be feeling sad, your emotions may not be in consonance with the reality. As this class of cards indicative of relatively minor issues, it appears that you are not very much concerned about some matter of serious sort. The nature of outcome is less likely to have any strong effect on you.

In this TAROT shuffle of 10 Cards' spread, 4 or more Cards have appeared in 'upside down' (or negative) posture. Although this posture by itself does not mean negation or denial, it nevertheless indicates the circumstances are not much in favor; there could be many obstacles and impediments to contend with, or you may meet with resistance or opposition. So, you should remain very careful and cautious, and shedding all your over-optimism, you must expend your efforts in a directed manner. You should also be fair, and modest in your expectations.

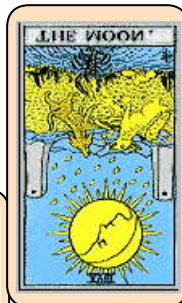

While shuffling the Cards, none of the three fateful Cards of Tarot - # 13, # 16, and # 22 - has appeared in the spread. Its indications are highly favorable for you. You can look forward to having your cherished desires fulfilled.

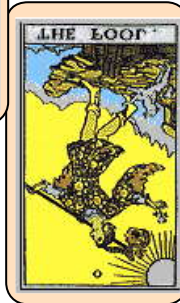

The Spiritual Ten Gates of Tarot method of 10 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 18(The Moon) :

The 1st Card: It indicates the significator for the issue.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This is Trumps Card # 18. It stands for the Moon (La Lune). It corresponds to the Hebrew letter 'Tzaddik'. It is pictured as a double-level card - with the Moon at the top center, shown in its crescent form within a full circle. The face of the Moon is shown within the circle looking downward. In some cases, the rays are seen emanating from the full circle - together with falling water-drops from the Moon, which symbolizes the descent of the life-spirit to the material world. Its basic import is fluidity; rather than being shaped by the events and happenings, a person must try to learn the ways in order to be able to shape them for bringing them to his/ her own advantage. It emphasizes the need for acquiring the required abilities for fulfilling the objectives and reaching the desired goals.

In the TAROT Cards' shuffle, the # 18 card (of the Major Enumeration Keys) has appeared in the spread. Denoted by 'The Moon', this corresponds to Gate Six; this is the Path 29. Overall Conclusion :

In this TAROT shuffle of 10 Cards' spread, 7 or more Minor Arcana Cards have appeared. These cards cover the mundane affairs; so, it appears that you are concerned about the real life situations. As this class of cards indicative of relatively minor issues, it appears that you are not very much concerned about some matter of serious sort. The nature of outcome is less likely to have any strong effect on you.

In this TAROT shuffle of 10 Cards' spread, 3 or more Minor Arcana 'Wands' Cards have appeared. These cards cover the mundane affairs; so, it appears that you are concerned about the real life situations. These cards have governance over energy, enthusiasm, drive, ambition, enterprise, growth, and progress; you are probably concerned about risk-taking, investment, a new venture, speculation, career, travel, etc. Probably you are feeling concerned about your career prospect or even the direction in life. As this class of cards indicative of relatively minor issues, it appears that you are not very much concerned about some matter of serious sort. The nature of outcome is less likely to have any strong effect on you.

In this TAROT shuffle of 10 Cards' spread, 4 or more Cards have appeared in 'upside down' (or negative) posture. Although this posture by itself does not mean negation or denial, it nevertheless indicates the circumstances are not much in favor; there could be many obstacles and impediments to contend with, or you may meet with resistance or opposition. So, you should remain very careful and cautious, and shedding all your over-optimism, you must expend your efforts in a directed manner. You should also be fair, and modest in your expectations.

While shuffling the Cards, you have obtained a fateful Card of Tarot - # 22. As a fateful Card has appeared in the same shuffle (once or more), somewhat unfavorable results are indicated. You should therefore exercise some care and caution.

The Heart's Desire Method of 8 Cards' spread

Purpose of the Cards appearing in order

- The 1st Card: It indicates what you are.
- The 2nd Card: It indicates your partner.
- The 3rd Card: It indicates outside influences.
- The 4th Card: It indicates your past.
- The 5th Card: It indicates your partner's past.
- The 6th Card: It indicates your future.
- The 7th Card: It indicates your partner's future.
- The 8th Card: It indicates possible future outcome.

The Heart's Desire Method of 8 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 61('Valet' of Pentacles) :

The 1st Card: It indicates what you are.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Pentacles. It is shown as a scholarly and reflective young boy (in some cases, a scholarly young girl) in a happy mood is standing in a field, holding a glittering coin in his/ her both hands or balancing it on the tips of his/ her fingers for showing it (to others); he/ she is well dressed, very pleased with himself/ herself, and admiring his/ her possession of the coin. It signifies a well-educated and intelligent person of refined nature and courteous behavior - probably having some artistic inclinations as well. But owing to tender age and lack of experience, the person might be more sensitive, less aware of reality, and somewhat impractical. Often this card brings in some good news or message; it indicates a period of enjoyment, pleasure, and satisfaction. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates a banal person - who is interest-oriented, and of prodigal nature or dissipating habits; it may also bring in some disappointment or bad news.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 61 (= 'Valet' of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. You may have to deal with someone who thinks himself/ herself more important than he/ she actually is. He/ She might be reluctant to take unnecessary risks, and thereby might cause blocking of your prospect of advancement. You can change the situation to your favor if you can appeal to his/ her heart by using your head in a subtle manner; this is since the motive of the person is not at all suspect.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should remain very careful and cautious, and must consider all pros and cons before taking any major decision. You must also try your level best to avoid any possibility of conflict - if you don't wish to have complications of serious sort. If you are concerned about someone else, then a chance of receiving a startling bad news hangs on.

Card 2 - 67(Three of Wands) :

The 2nd Card: It indicates your partner.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 3 of Wands. This signifies 'Recognition'; it is also called 'The Horse Fair', and is shown as three small slim wands had been arranged in vertical position in parallel in a frame; the frame is hung on the wall, and on the floor a couple is busy for managing a horse - while an equine calf is partaking its food. This card is auspicious; it indicates that if you do not become impulsive, remain calm and quiet, and can act in an matured, dignified, intelligent, and tactful manner, then whatever the problems you are facing will be solved amicably. If the problems had been caused by non-cooperation or interference by some people, then you can look forward to active assistance or advice from some other people that will help you for arriving at a permanent solution. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates that the pact will last for a short duration only - as the problems are likely to surface all over again at a not-too-distant date.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 67 (= 3 of Wands) appears in upside down posture. The indications are not very favorable. People around you may seem to have started talking and behaving in a strange way and unpredictable manner. The goings-on around you may tell upon your nerves, and you may appear to lose your self-confidence. The period is not good for starting a new venture or getting into a new deal; you should rather concentrate on your routine affairs only.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 3. This symbolizes assertion, expression, form, direction, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, it indicates that - even if the beginning appeared to be very promising - the new venture you have recently started or got involved in is likely to go haywire; you are less likely to derive any benefit owing to adverse change of circumstances.

Card 3 - 41(Five of Cups) :

The 3rd Card: It indicates outside influences.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 5 of Cups. This signifies 'The Spilling'. It is shown by a set of five cups - four cups kept in four corners, and another cup is lying in the center. This is the card of losses and gains; it is not a very auspicious card. Possibly you may have incurred some losses, or had separation from someone very close - for which you are feeling depressed. You need to change your outlook first; you must not be looking only at the dark side of things. If you can change your attitude, then you may be able to see newer avenues and the opportunities for success and happiness. Often this card indicates a union or joining - it may be a marriage or a partnership; but how well the things will work for you depends much on yourself. This card also signifies indecision; if you do not make up your mind in time, then you may miss some opportunities. Do you wish to have a change of surroundings only to escape from some important matters - which require closer attention? If this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates false promises, unrealistic expectations, bitter experience, frustration, adverse change of surroundings, etc.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 41 (= 5 of Cups) appears in upside down posture. You had probably been reeling under sadness or gloom; on the bright side, this temporary phase will be over pretty soon. Your circumstances and mental condition is going to improve at a fast pace; you will be start feeling happy once again.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 5. It symbolizes excitement, movement, adventure, advancement, victory, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not favorable. You are likely to face some political upheaval, or social disorder, or calamitous cause. Even if you had planned carefully, and worked very hard, yet you may not obtain the expected results. You should therefore stow away adequate provisions for covering the approaching 'rainy' days.

Card 4 - 37(Ace of Cups) :

The 4th Card: It indicates your past.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to Ace (= 1) of Cups. This signifies 'The Open Channel'. It is shown as a large cup of round base held upright is resting on the palm, which has come out of the cloud. At the bottom the sea is seen, while water is seen to steadily flowing out in the form of arching fountains. Thus, the cup represents divine grace - since it is a never-ending source of its contents, which are being freely given away. It indicates celebration, merry-making, union, fertility, and fruitful consummation. It represents the onset of a true, devoted, and lasting relationship. If the query has nothing to do with love or marriage, then it will indicate forming of lasting partnership/ collaboration with a friend. It promises a favorable outcome, and ensures full satisfaction.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 37 (= 'Ace' of Cups) appears in upside down posture. You may have lost faith in someone you have trusted long since; probably you are facing some problem with a relationship or a friendship - which may appear to be heading for a split. Alternately, you might be concerned about virility, fertility, childbirth, etc. If some other cards of the spread also offer unfavorable indications, then you should keep your fingers crossed.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained an 'Ace' card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 1. This symbolizes creativity, beginning, and original action. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, it indicates that there is something in its initial stage, which requires your immediate attention and re-consideration; otherwise, it is likely to bring in an unfavorable outcome for you in the long run.

Card 5 - 60(Ten of Pentacles) :

The 5th Card: It indicates your partner's past.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 10 of Pentacles. This signifies 'The Great Work'. It is shown as a big ornate entrance of a castle; a set of ten glittering coins has been neat arranged in a row high on the wall - while a couple is approaching the entrance in a happy mood. The meaning is undoubtedly clear; the person is well established in respect of family and business both. He/ She has inherited (or will inherit) a lot - which will instill a sense of satisfaction, and the feelings of confidence and security. The person is (or will be) occupying a very high prestigious position, will be held in high esteem, and is very much likely to receive state honors for some meritorious deed and/ or exceptional accomplishments. If this card appears in upright posture, then it lays special emphasis on family matters and/ or business establishment; it also indicates possibility of receiving a gift or legacy. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates uncertainty, loss in speculation, theft or robbery, etc. The person should not take chances, and remain on the alert for safeguarding his/ her possessions and interests.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 60 (= 10 of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. It appears that you may not be very progressive minded person; if you are trying to bog down someone for conforming to tradition, and refuse to allow him/ her to change with the times, then you might be in for meeting with stiff resistance - which might even lead to quarrels in the family, and even division of property.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 10. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies extremities - very good or very bad, steep rise or precipitous fall, love or hate, arrogance or fear, etc. It does not offer any sort of middling or neutral result. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. First of all, you should reconsider your position and decisions for ensuring that you are not committing any major mistake - which could bring in serious troubles for you. You must remain very careful, cautious, and very alert.

Card 6 - 36('King' of Swords) :

The 6th Card: It indicates your future.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'King' of Swords. It is often shown as a matured male person wearing a masculine crown and regal robes - sitting on a throne with an upright naked sword in his right hand as a symbol of his authority and power. His face is grim, and his left hand is resting on his left thigh in a closed fist manner indicating resolution. He stares like a brave lion in a ready-to-attack mood, and his gesture is to kill anyone who might cause his displeasure. He is not a symbol of justice, since he is concerned about furthering his own interests. This card indicates that you might be in a very dangerous position by getting into difficulties with a powerful authority. Immediately getting away from the place will be the best thing advisable for you.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 14. This number is indicative of fortune, but at the same time it also signifies challenges that bring in changes. You should remain on concrete grounds - depending on your own self, and not relying on other people's assistance or support. Besides, you should remain very careful while dealing with persons of authority and power. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are quite favorable for you. You would gain recognition for your superlative qualities, and might be duly rewarded for utilizing those efficiently.

Card 7 - 38(Two of Cups) :

The 7th Card: It indicates your partner's future.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 2 of Cups. This signifies 'The Sacred Cord'. It is shown by two cups with rounded base are kept side by side, and in the middle a lily in full bloom is held in the hand; all are in upright positions. In the background, there is a painting in which a couple of swans are seen in close embrace; they are together dipping their bills in another lily in full bloom, gleefully they are enjoying sipping nectar. The meaning is obviously very clear. It indicates a peaceful and harmonious relationship between two persons. In case of love or marriage, a perfectly conjugate happy union is indicated. It may be a case of partnership/ collaboration also - in which case, it will bring in success, growth and prosperity. Either way, it signifies a cordial and lasting relationship.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 2. This symbolizes imagination, signifies harmony, union, fertility, etc and offers much of scope for conception. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates the introduction of a new factor, like a person, or a place, or a thing, or circumstances - from which you can look forward to deriving some benefit in near future.

Card 8 - 55(Five of Pentacles) :

The 8th Card: It indicates possible future outcome.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 5 of Pentacles. This signifies 'Nadir'. It is shown as five big coins on the grill of a window, and a couple inside a room; while the sad young female looking downward appears to be distressed, the young male with his eyes closed and one foot injured is limping with his crutches in utter despair. The meaning is obviously clear: this card is indicative of warning, and it signifies possibility of failure in business, incurring heavy losses, reversal of fortune, financial inconvenience, physical distress, and mental agony. It indicates little success in business or an apparently bright change in profession - while it has the potential danger of leading to a wrecking disaster in near future. You should therefore remain very careful and cautious, watch your every step, and act only after a thorough consideration of all pros and cons. You must stay away from risky ventures, speculative investments, and lending money to others. You should depend on what you have, and must not depend on what you expect.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 55 (= 5 of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. You may need to change your outlook, and even your lifestyle. Although you may have been fairly conscious about it, still you appear to be quite reluctant to do so - as you may think it might cause you embarrassment. But you should reconsider your position - if you do not wish to fall in a deeper pit.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 5. It symbolizes excitement, movement, adventure, advancement, victory, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not favorable. You are likely to face some political upheaval, or social disorder, or calamitous cause. Even if you had planned carefully, and worked very hard, yet you may not obtain the expected results. You should therefore stow away adequate provisions for covering the approaching 'rainy' days.

Card 5 - 78('King' of Wands) :

The 5th Card: It denotes the 'Future Possibilities'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'King' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed, distinguished and dignified-looking person is majestically seated on a throne wearing a masculine crown, and by holding a tall wand firmly on his right hand. He appears more like a merchant, confident and proud of himself, and at ease with his position. It signifies a self-made person - who has come up in life by dint of his intelligent efforts, and strong determination, and whom the enquirer admires much for his position and accomplishments. If the enquirer is a male person, then this card may signify a rival - who is a generous and honest; but if the enquirer is a female person, then it may be a close relative or a friend - whose advice can be trusted. If this card relates to a situation, then it indicates a favorable time to take appropriate actions in right earnest - in connection with business-matters and financial-affairs.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 78 (= 'King' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. Be careful if some middle aged rich person is offering you any encouragement or financial advice. He might be a genuine trickster, and concerned about furthering his own interests only. As he might be struggling to fulfill his own commitments, he might become desperate enough to make promises he would never fulfill.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 14. This number is indicative of fortune, but at the same time it also signifies challenges that bring in changes. You should remain on concrete grounds - depending on your own self, and not relying on other people's assistance or support. Besides, you should remain very careful while dealing with persons of authority and power. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should watch your words, and remain very careful in respect of your conduct. It is possible that for some of your omission or commission, the authorities might frame serious charges against you, and get you punished.

Card 6 - 39(Three of Cups) :

The 6th Card: It denotes the 'Unexpected Turn of Events'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 3 of Cups. This signifies 'The Stream of Love'. It is shown by three cups with rounded base - kept vertically one above the other with some gap between the adjacent ones. Also termed as the 'Dressing of the Sacred Spring', this card indicates auspiciousness, and ensures success in forming relationship; it brings in unhindered prosperity in business/ profession - leading to abundance and plenty, and utmost satisfaction. In case of love, it will lead to a happy union - concluding soon in a joyous celebration. There could be an addition to the family by birth or marriage. But if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates merely physical charm, gratification of sensual pleasures, small achievements, insignificant change/ transfer, and minor gains.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 3. This symbolizes assertion, expression, form, direction, etc and offers great scope for having rapid progress. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that circumstances will very soon turn in your favor. Even if the beginning did not appear to bear any promise - the new venture you have recently started or got involved in will proceed very well - from which you are sure to derive much of benefit in near future.

Card 7 - 62('Knight' of Pentacles) :

The 7th Card: It denotes the 'Final Result'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Knight' of Pentacles. It is shown as a able-bodied young man of adventurous spirit sitting on a horseback; he is dressed as a merchant, and holding a glittering coin - which is balanced on it's edge and resting on his right palm. The knight is exhibiting the coin, but not seriously contemplating at it. The horse is at parade rest, and the knight is brave and demanding; he is a person having great capacities and potentials, and he is fully aware of it. But as he is not much experienced, he is impatient, and less willing to assume his responsibilities. If his expectations have not been fulfilled, then a quarrel is likely to erupt soon, and the knight is prepared to depart. Often this card means arrival or departure of a demanding person, with possibility of a quarrel, and breaking of a relationship. If this card appears in upside down posture, then it may signify a idle, careless, negligent, or irresponsible person - who might be discouraged, or removed from position, or he might leave on his own.

- The 2nd Card: It denotes 'Positive influence'.
- The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Negative influence'.
- The 4th Card: It denotes 'The Past'.
- The 5th Card: It denotes 'The Present'.
- The 6th Card: It denotes the 'The Future'.
- The 7th Card: It denotes the 'The Answer'.

The Star Method of 7 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 54(Four of Pentacles) :

The 1st Card: It denotes 'The Question'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 4 of Pentacles. This signifies 'Power'. It is shown as a tradesman proudly standing by keeping his two feet apart - each on a large piece of coin - while he is holding a very large piece of coin with his two hands on his chest, and another large coin is on his cap resting on its edge in a balanced position; besides, there are many buildings in the background. The meaning is obviously clear; this is a card of material possession, and the person is holding on to his/ her inherited and acquired possessions with a firm conviction that there is need to guard one's own possessions. It indicates legacy or inheritance, satisfaction in personal status, deriving pleasure for being in a comfortable and stable situation - with a little or no worry. But if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates the possibility of facing opposition from-, and/ or having quarrels with-, close relations in connection with inheritance and/ or property-matters.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 4. This symbolizes basic understanding, careful planning, hard work, etc; it is quite queer that it also signifies sudden and unexpected developments. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that you will derive much of benefit owing to sudden change of circumstances. But you should remain alert and prepared. If you can understand the situation well, able to plan carefully, and willing to work hard, then you will very soon see the dawn of prosperity.

Card 2 - 7(The Chariot) :

The 2nd Card: It denotes 'Positive influence'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This is Trumps Card # 7. It stands for The Chariot (Le Chariot). It represents securing ultimate victory by proper utilization of wisdom, farsightedness, firm decision, and strength of will. It corresponds to the Hebrew letter 'Zayin'. It is pictured as a male figure of royal descent - having aggressive stance and fierce forward glance - riding a chariot by driving himself. The person is wearing full armor, and in most cases wearing a heavy metallic headgear. The chariot is having two mythical creatures - sometimes a unicorn, at times a sphinx (having the face of human male, and the body of lion), while at some other times winged horse-like creatures; the two draft creatures are portrayed in opposite colors. It denotes gain of mastery and control over the conflicting duo - who are opposites of, and enemies of, each other by nature.

Symbolic Significations of the Card :

The Chariot of Osiris: The knowledge of seven principles, magnetic power, intellect, sensation, fulfillment of desires and realization of ambitions.

Allegorical Significations of the Card :

Denoted by 'The Chariot of Osiris'. It signifies that you should not feel burdened by the negative thoughts and bitter experiences of the past; you must come out in the open, visualize in a clear perspective, and take over the reins of responsibility for your present condition. No one is going to take you to places - since this is what you will do on your own. If you delve deep within, you will discover newer meanings of the emerging patterns - which will encourage you to formulate your own courses of action that will ultimately lead you to achieve your desired objectives. If you pay heed to the internal nudges, you will receive deep internal messages flocking towards you in right earnest.

In the shuffle, the Card #7 appears in inverted (or upside down) position - thereby indicating the possibility of a not-so-favorable outcome. You are most probably passing through a tough time - finding it really very hard to cope with a person of headstrong nature and emotionally imbalanced disposition; the ordeal you might be going through has possibly been imposed upon you owing to the whims of the misanthropic person. But be patient, act prudently, and deal with others tactfully. The struggle is just a test of your stamina, and strength of will; in the long run, the seemingly endless period of frustration and exhaustion will come to an end pretty soon.

Card 3 - 51(Ace of Pentacles) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Negative influence'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to Ace (= 1) of Pentacles. This signifies 'Form'. It is shown as a very large and strong hand appearing out of a cloud is holding a large-sized round coin balanced on the palm - while some kind of design or decoration is growing out of the top or from the bottom. This is the card of success, achievement, and material gains of a high order. It indicates a person who has started a new venture or is going to start one soon. The person is highly capable, and he/ she perfectly knows how to get things done in the way he/ she likes. It assures abundance, plenty, money, status, power, and all such things that contributes to overall prosperity. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it will indicate that there might some people in the person's circle - who will feel very jealous and unhappy at the person's success; alternately, or in addition, the person might become addicted to the evils of wealth and attainment.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained an 'Ace' card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 1. This symbolizes creativity, signifies beginning, and offers much of scope for original action. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, an auspicious beginning is indicated - which is likely to bring in a favorable outcome for you in the long run.

Card 4 - 47('Valet' of Cups) :

The 4th Card: It denotes 'The Past'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Cups. It is shown as a well-dressed young boy or girl smiling in a happy mood is standing on the ground in a relaxed position - looking at an upright big cup he/ she is holding in his/ her right hand in admiration. The cup contains something. He/ She appears to be waiting for someone for delivering the cup or its contents to him/ her. This card symbolizes auspiciousness. It indicates receiving a message, or arrival of a good-natured sensitive person of similar description (son/ daughter or brother/ sister) - who would gladly render some important service to you for your benefit. At times it indicates birth of a child or an idea, starting of a prospective enterprise with the help of someone.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 47 (= 'Valet' of Cups) appears in upside down posture. Your quest for something may fail to bear any fruit, and you are likely to feel disillusioned that it had been a mere wastage of time and endeavors. But what you have actually gained is the invaluable experience. If you have learnt a truth, then it is not a matter of regret - rather, it is a cause for rejoicing.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should remain very careful and cautious, and must consider all pros and cons before taking any major decision. You must also try your level best to avoid any possibility of conflict - if you don't wish to have complications of serious sort. If you are concerned about someone else, then a chance of receiving a startling bad news hangs on.

Card 5 - 69(Five of Wands) :

The 5th Card: It denotes 'The Present'

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 5 of Wands. This signifies 'Fear'. It is shown as five young boys - every one of them holding a big wand in his right hand - are challenging one another, and a multi-faceted ruinous combat may break out in any time. This card is not auspicious; it indicates greed, intolerance, competition for financial gains, and resultant hardship. It is not important who had initiated the dishonest competition; yet it is almost sure that in case of such kind of competition, no one gains - whereas every one loses. You are therefore better advised to reconsider your decisions and objectives, and check if you can avoid the competition altogether. There's a warning that lopsided views can lead to immature decisions- which can propel you to get entangled in serious disputes or even lawsuits. If this card appears in upside down posture, then the things could be pretty worse; if you suffer from confusion of thought, and by wrongly assuming that you can successfully further your own interests by using untenable fallacies, then who else but you is destined to lick the dust.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 69 (= 5 of Wands) appears in upside down posture. You may find that nothing around you seems to be going your way, and start feeling as if you are swimming against the current. The time-period is not good for making new business deals or travel plans. You should lie low and go slow for the time being; the bad patch will pass over soon.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 5. It symbolizes excitement, movement, adventure, advancement, victory, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not favorable. You are likely to face some political upheaval, or social disorder, or calamitous cause. Even if you had planned carefully, and worked very hard, yet you may not obtain the expected results. You should therefore stow away adequate provisions for covering the approaching 'rainy' days.

Card 6 - 73(Nine of Wands) :

The 6th Card: It denotes the 'The Future'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 9 of Wands. This signifies 'The Screen'. It is shown as an able-bodied young man proudly standing on the floor firmly holding a thick wand in his both hands - while eight similar other wands have been neatly stacked behind him. This card is called 'Courage Under Fire', denoting that by making use of his/ her fiery enthusiasm, a person has successfully completed a job very well; his/ her ability to plan wisely with due farsightedness and working with patience and perseverance in a disciplined manner will take him/ her to the pinnacle of success before long. Even if the person faces any opposition from some quarter, he/ she knows very well how to tackle them; and, there could hardly be any obstacles or impediments - which he/ she cannot overcome or weed out. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then there is some fear of facing failure and incurring losses owing to your own obstinacy or some other fault.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 73 (= 9 of Wands) appears in upside down posture. The present time-period is not at all favorable for you. As such, at present you must not go for starting any new venture, investing big sums of money, taking any kind of big risks, undertaking long journeys, etc. You should conserve your energies and hold on to your money till the bad patch passes over.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 9. It symbolizes finalization, completeness, inevitable outcome, etc; it also signifies originality, initiative, and drive - but at the same time it also indicates naivety and vulnerability. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You are likely to have overlooked some errors, or inadvertently made some mistakes, in some task you have recently completed. It may have resulted due to distractions caused by someone at the last stages, but you might be held responsible for the disaster.

Card 7 - 75('Valet' of Wands) :

The 7th Card: It denotes the 'The Answer'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed beautiful young boy (or girl) standing in a country setting by holding a wand - which is a bit taller than him - in both of his hands in front of him, and is looking at its top end. His attitude is casual and posture is relaxed. It indicates a person of sensitive nature, but he/ she is faithful - although somewhat lacking in maturity and experience. This card signifies that you can look forward to receive some pleasant news or a message from a young relative or a friend; or it may have some connection with your profession/ business. If this card appears in upright posture, then you will feel relaxed and remain free from worry. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then the news might be from- or about- your rival or competitor, and as such it can be a source of worry to you. Either way, this card normally does not indicate a very unfavorable outcome; therefore, you must not give up your hopes.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 75 (= 'Valet' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. The present time-period is not favorable. If you are having travel plans, then it will be rather better to postpone them. Otherwise, you are likely to meet with many troubles on the way. Besides, you may face some difficulties with-, or in connection with-, a teenage child - probably a boy.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should remain very careful and cautious, and must consider all pros and cons before taking any major decision. You must also try your level best to avoid any possibility of conflict - if you don't wish to have complications of serious sort. If you are concerned about someone else, then a chance of receiving a startling bad news hangs on.

Overall Conclusion :

In this TAROT shuffle of 7 Cards' spread, 5 or more Minor Arcana Cards have appeared. These cards cover the mundane affairs; so, it appears that you are concerned about the real life situations. As this class of cards indicative of relatively minor issues, it appears that you are not very much concerned about some matter of serious sort. The nature of outcome is less likely to have any strong effect on you.

In this TAROT shuffle of 7 Cards' spread, 2 or more Minor Arcana 'Face' Cards have appeared. As this sub-class of cards indicates persons of some standing, it appears that you are very much concerned about dealing with some powerful and/ or influential persons. The nature of outcome is likely to have strong effect on you.

In this TAROT shuffle of 7 Cards' spread, none of the Minor Arcana 'Swords' Cards has appeared. As this class of cards signifies mental condition and intellectual pursuits, the absence of these cards indicate that you are not concerned with such things; it appears that you are concerned about some other things.

In this TAROT shuffle of 7 Cards' spread, 2 or more Minor Arcana 'Pentacles' Cards have appeared. These cards cover the mundane affairs; so, it appears that you are concerned about the real life situations. As these cards have governance over everything connected with the material world, you are probably concerned about business deal, employment, earnings, money-matters, investments, belongings, property, etc. Probably you wish to have something immediately; but you should be practical and have patience. As this class of cards indicative of relatively minor issues, it appears that you are not very much concerned about some matter of serious sort. The nature of outcome is less likely to have any strong effect on you.

In this TAROT shuffle of 7 Cards' spread, 2 or more Minor Arcana 'Wands' Cards have appeared. These cards cover the mundane affairs; so, it appears that you are concerned about the real life situations. These cards have governance over energy, enthusiasm, drive, ambition, enterprise, growth, and progress; you are probably concerned about risk-taking, investment, a new venture, speculation, career, travel, etc. Probably you are feeling concerned about your career prospect or even the direction in life. As this class of cards indicative of relatively minor issues, it appears that you are not very much concerned about some matter of serious sort. The nature of outcome is less likely to have any strong effect on you.

In this TAROT shuffle of 7 Cards' spread, 3 or more Cards have appeared in 'upside down' (or negative) posture. Although this posture by itself does not mean negation or denial, it nevertheless indicates the circumstances are not much in favor; there could be many obstacles and impediments to contend with, or you may meet with resistance or opposition. So, you should remain very careful and cautious, and shedding all your over-optimism, you must expend your efforts in a directed manner. You should also be fair, and modest in your expectations.

While shuffling the Cards, none of the three fateful Cards of Tarot - # 13, # 16, and # 22 - has appeared in the spread. Its indications are highly favorable for you. You can look forward to having your cherished desires fulfilled.

The Gypsy's Spell Method of 7 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 61('Valet' of Pentacles) :

The 1st Card: It denotes 'Present situation'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Pentacles. It is shown as a scholarly and reflective young boy (in some cases, a scholarly young girl) in a happy mood is standing in a field, holding a glittering coin in his/ her both hands or balancing it on the tips of his/ her fingers for showing it (to others); he/ she is well dressed, very pleased with himself/ herself, and admiring his/ her possession of the coin. It signifies a well-educated and intelligent person of refined nature and courteous behavior - probably having some artistic inclinations as well. But owing to tender age and lack of experience, the person might be more sensitive, less aware of reality, and somewhat impractical. Often this card brings in some good news or message; it indicates a period of enjoyment, pleasure, and satisfaction. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates a banal person - who is interest-oriented, and of prodigal nature or dissipating habits; it may also bring in some disappointment or bad news.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are still quite favorable for you. Even if there is conflict, you can look forward to having it resolved by your own initiative. A relative or a friend will actively assist you in this regard; alternately, it might be resolved owing to unexpected change of circumstances. If you are concerned about someone else, then very soon you will receive very surprising good news.

Card 2 - 68(Four of Wands) :

The 2nd Card: It denotes 'What you let see'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 4 of Wands. This signifies 'Mastery'. It is shown as the right hand (of a person) in one side is holding the right hand (of another person) in close embrace - while each of these two hands are holding two slim wands tightly in a cross position. This is a very auspicious card; it signifies the end of strife and quarrels - which had continued for a long duration, and formation of ties for mutual benefit - which will last for a long duration. As all the disagreements have been amicably resolved, it is a time for relaxing and rejoicing; this card improves understanding in business relationships, and brings in harmony in family relationships. It symbolizes enjoyment, gaiety, and social activities; there might be an auspicious celebration in the family, and an addition to it by marriage or childbirth. Even if the card appears in an upside down posture, then also the meaning will be similar - but diplomatic reasons could lead to the formation of the relationships, and these could be more interest-oriented.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 4. This symbolizes basic understanding, careful planning, hard work, etc; it is quite queer that it also signifies sudden and unexpected developments. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that you will derive much of benefit owing to sudden change of circumstances. But you should remain alert and prepared. If you can understand the situation well, able to plan carefully, and willing to work hard, then you will very soon see the dawn of prosperity.

Card 3 - 75('Valet' of Wands) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes 'What you keep hidden'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed beautiful young boy (or girl) standing in a country setting by holding a wand - which is a bit taller than him - in both of his hands in front of him, and is looking at its top end. His attitude is casual and posture is relaxed. It indicates a person of sensitive nature, but he/ she is faithful - although somewhat lacking in maturity and experience. This card signifies that you can look forward to receive some pleasant news or a message from a young relative or a friend; or it may have some connection with your profession/ business. If this card appears in upright posture, then you will feel relaxed and remain free from worry. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then the news might be from- or about- your rival or competitor, and as such it can be a source of worry to you. Either way, this card normally does not indicate a very unfavorable outcome; therefore, you must not give up your hopes.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 75 (= 'Valet' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. The present time-period is not favorable. If you are having travel plans, then it will be rather better to postpone them. Otherwise, you are likely to meet with many troubles on the way. Besides, you may face some difficulties with-, or in connection with-, a teenage child - probably a boy.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should remain very careful and cautious, and must consider all pros and cons before taking any major decision. You must also try your level best to avoid any possibility of conflict - if you don't wish to have complications of serious sort. If you are concerned about someone else, then a chance of receiving a startling bad news hangs on.

Card 4 - 58(Eight of Pentacles) :

The 4th Card: It denotes the 'What you want'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 8 of Pentacles. This signifies 'The Mountain'. It is shown as a sculptor working with his tools on a coin in a happy mood (or is he really engaged 'making' the coin? - which in other words means 'minting money') - while one coin is lying on the floor and six other coins had been neatly hung in a vertical column in an arranged manner. It means that the person is highly capable; he is at work with full concentration, and has been producing some useful things - which are of value and importance. This card signifies that acquired knowledge and skill of craftsmanship will lead the person to eventual success; if the person does not realize that he/ she possesses the skill, then he/ she needs to be reminded to utilize his/ her capacities and potentials in an effective manner; he/ she will soon be able to attain the desired status - which is actually due to him/ her. But if the card appears in upside down posture, then the person may lack ambition or sense of direction, or he/ she might be too clever for his/ her own good. He/ She might be vainglorious, hypocritical, and greedy; his/ her mind is more apt to be full of cunning intrigues.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 58 (= 8 of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. It appears that the current post you are holding may not be at all suitable hard work. The kind of hard work it involves vis-à-vis the returns you get are not justified. Why then you are still badly sticking to it? If you do not look for alternate opportunities, then you may become exhausted sooner than you think.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 8. It symbolizes caution, discipline, wisdom gained through experience, ability, efficiency, prudence, farsightedness, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You may be given some burdensome responsibilities, and may have to face challenging circumstances. In spite of best of your efforts, you may not be successful in your efforts. You may feel very sad, and your mind might become filled with despair.

Card 5 - 67(Three of Wands) :

The 5th Card: It denotes the 'How it goes'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 3 of Wands. This signifies 'Recognition'; it is also called 'The Horse Fair', and is shown as three small slim wands had been arranged in vertical position in parallel in a frame; the frame is hung on the wall, and on the floor a couple is busy for managing a horse - while an equine calf is partaking its food. This card is auspicious; it indicates that if you do not become impulsive, remain calm and quiet, and can act in an matured, dignified, intelligent, and tactful manner, then whatever the problems you are facing will be solved amicably. If the problems had been caused by non-cooperation or interference by some people, then you can look forward to active assistance or advice from some other people that will help you for arriving at a permanent solution. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates that the pact will last for a short duration only - as the problems are likely to surface all over again at a not-too-distant date.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 3. This symbolizes assertion, expression, form, direction, etc and offers great scope for having rapid progress. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that circumstances will very soon turn in your favor. Even if the beginning did not appear to bear any promise - the new venture you have recently started or got involved in will proceed very well - from which you are sure to derive much of benefit in near future.

Card 6 - 48('Knight' of Cups) :

The 6th Card: It denotes the 'What's gonna happen'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Knight' of Cups. It is shown as a young man wearing armor and a winged cap is riding a horse. A horn is hanging from his shoulder strap. He is carrying an upright big cup holding it in his right hand in front of him, and looking at it in admiration. The cup contains something of value or importance. The horse is in parade dress and moving in a slow pace. Peaceful and calm countryside is seen in the background. It represents an honest, good natured, intelligent, and a friendly person - who is well disposed to the enquirer. He might be a true lover, or he might be a messenger bringing in happy news. It indicates a true friend, who is not a visionary, but is like a dreamer; he understands people's feelings.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 12. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies sacrifice of some sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are very favorable for you. A friend or a relative is likely to favor you unexpectedly, and act unselfishly on your behalf for your own good. There might be some design or intrigue in the background - which you may or may not be aware of, but it might be of some concern to you regardless of whether you wish or not. You will become wiser, and receive indirect benefit from these all.

Card 7 - 72(Eight of Wands) :

The 7th Card: It denotes the 'What it will mean in the end'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 8 of Wands. This signifies 'The Power Shield'. It is shown as an eight-storied castle-like tall structure - with a wand sticking out from either side of the roof-level of every floor. This is a very auspicious card, and it ensures speedy progress in all your efforts, and success in all your endeavors. The time is ripe for you; but don't be precipitate, you have to become more and more active - for your own good. It is not just a single upcoming event to look forward to - but a series of events in rapid succession is going to overwhelm you. In matters pertaining to business and finance, you will be exceptionally successful; if you are engaged in service, then you will be raised to a more prestigious position, your social position will improve, and your credibility and honor will also increase considerably. If you are expecting to succeed in a love affair, then also there will be nobody and nothing to let you down. If this card appears in upside down posture, then you may face internal disputes or quarrels with your spouse or business-partner owing to jealous feelings.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 72 (= 8 of Wands) appears in upside down posture. Various obstacles and impediments are probably retarding your progress, and you might have become worried. The time-period is not favorable. Before engaging yourself in doing something new, you must reconsider the pros and cons. If you are having any travel plans, then it will be more advisable for you to postpone them.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 8. The Relationships Method of 6 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 53(Three of Pentacles) :

The 1st Card: It indicates How A sees B.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 3 of Pentacles. This signifies 'Works'. It is shown as two giraffes are eating the leaves of a tree by utilizing their long forelegs and tall neck to their fullest advantage. This is a card of success - but of different application. It indicates that the person has duly prepared- or is going to prepare- himself/ herself, and by utilizing his/ her acquired proficiency and skill in an efficient manner, he/ she is going to earn a living. The person has the capacity and potential to learn and acquire a saleable skill - which will lead to his/ her success ultimately. If this card appears in upright posture, then it indicates acquiring proficiency in an art, craft, profession, or trade; it indicates enterprise, trade, business, commerce, noble instincts, rise in prestige, and gain of renown. But if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates lack of any special ability, mediocrity, pettiness, weakness, and uncertainty.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 53 (= 3 of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. You may be in a hurry to find a solution double-quick. Probably, you are facing some problems to manage your financial affairs. If you have overlooked some important details at the planning stage, then you may not be in a stable position just by cutting corners. It is not at all wise to try to fill a pit by digging another.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 3. This symbolizes assertion, expression, form, direction, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, it indicates that - even if the beginning appeared to be very promising - the new venture you have recently started or got involved in is likely to go haywire; you are less likely to derive any benefit owing to adverse change of circumstances.

Card 2 - 77('Queen' of Wands) :

The 2nd Card: It indicates How B sees A.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Queen' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed matured lady of honorable disposition is seated on a throne wearing a feminine crown - by holding a wand on her right hand, and a sunflower with a long stem on her left. The wand is taller than her, but she is not looking at it; she is looking forward with an intelligent, friendly, confiding gesture. She is in relaxed mood, conscious about her position, and at ease with herself. This card signifies a wealthy lady - who had acquired the financial standing herself. She is generous, loving, kind, sensible, and practical in case of relationships. If the enquirer is a male person, then this card may signify his wife or would-be wife; but if the enquirer is a female person, then it will mean a long-time friend and confidante. If this card indicates a situation, then it indicates a new venture - for which you will receive financial assistance and advice; by utilizing the qualities you possess, you will be successful in your efforts.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 77 (= 'Queen' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. Be careful if some middle aged rich lady is offering you any encouragement or financial advice. For having too many irons in the fire, she might be concerned about her own interests. As she might be struggling to fulfill her own commitments, she might become desperate enough to make promises she might not be able to fulfill.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 13. This number is indicative of upheaval; but its intrinsic significations are that upheavals bring in some drastic changes, which are very desired. You should remain very careful, and watch your every step. You must not be over-optimistic, avoid taking risky chances, and totally refrain from misusing your power and influence. You may have to battle hard for retaining your position.

Card 3 - 75('Valet' of Wands) :

The 3rd Card: It indicates How A sees A.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed beautiful young boy (or girl) standing in a country setting by holding a wand - which is a bit taller than him - in both of his hands in front of him, and is looking at its top end. His attitude is casual and posture is relaxed. It indicates a person of sensitive nature, but he/ she is faithful - although somewhat lacking in maturity and experience. This card signifies that you can look forward to receive some pleasant news or a message from a young relative or a friend; or it may have some connection with your profession/ business. If this card appears in upright posture, then you will feel relaxed and remain free from worry. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then the news might be from- or about- your rival or competitor, and as such it can be a source of worry to you. Either way, this card normally does not indicate a very unfavorable outcome; therefore, you must not give up your hopes.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 75 (= 'Valet' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. The present time-period is not favorable. If you are having travel plans, then it will be rather better to postpone them. Otherwise, you are likely to meet with many troubles on the way. Besides, you may face some difficulties with-, or in connection with-, a teenage child - probably a boy.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should remain very careful and cautious, and must consider all pros and cons before taking any major decision. You must also try your level best to avoid any possibility of conflict - if you don't wish to have complications of serious sort. If you are concerned about someone else, then a chance of receiving a startling bad news hangs on.

Card 4 - 54(Four of Pentacles) :

The 4th Card: It indicates How B sees B.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 4 of Pentacles. This signifies 'Power'. It is shown as a tradesman proudly standing by keeping his two feet apart - each on a large piece of coin - while he is holding a very large piece of coin with his two hands on his chest, and another large coin is on his cap resting on its edge in a balanced position; besides, there are many buildings in the background. The meaning is obviously clear; this is a card of material possession, and the person is holding on to his/ her inherited and acquired possessions with a firm conviction that there is need to guard one's own possessions. It indicates legacy or inheritance, satisfaction in personal status, deriving pleasure for being in a comfortable and stable situation - with a little or no worry. But if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates the possibility of facing opposition from-, and/ or having quarrels with-, close relations in connection with inheritance and/ or property-matters.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 4. This symbolizes basic understanding, careful planning, hard work, etc; it is quite queer that it also signifies sudden and unexpected developments. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that you will derive much of benefit owing to sudden change of circumstances. But you should remain alert and prepared. If you can understand the situation well, able to plan carefully, and willing to work hard, then you will very soon see the dawn of prosperity.

Card 5 - 58(Eight of Pentacles) :

The 5th Card: It indicates How A sees both.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 8 of Pentacles. This signifies 'The Mountain'. It is shown as a sculptor working with his tools on a coin in a happy mood (or is he really engaged 'making' the coin? - which in other words means 'minting money') - while one coin is lying on the floor and six other coins had been neatly hung in a vertical column in an arranged manner. It means that the person is highly capable; he is at work with full concentration, and has been producing some useful things - which are of value and importance. This card signifies that acquired knowledge and skill of craftsmanship will lead the person to eventual success; if the person does not realize that he/ she possesses the skill, then he/ she needs to be reminded to utilize his/ her capacities and potentials in an effective manner; he/ she will soon be able to attain the desired status - which is actually due to him/ her. But if the card appears in upside down posture, then the person may lack ambition or sense of direction, or he/ she might be too clever for his/ her own good. He/ She might be vainglorious, hypocritical, and greedy; his/ her mind is more apt to be full of cunning intrigues.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 8. With a mild expression on his face, he seems to relax - being at ease with himself. He looks like an affectionate father figure, disposed to grant great favors. It represents a kind person in a generous mood - who is ready to assist, advice, guide, and protect the enquirer. It signifies that he has total control over the surroundings, and his authority is very fairly used. The situation is guarded and protected for you - so that you can feel at home, safe and secure.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 50 (= 'King' of Cups) appears in upside down posture. You might come across a person - probably a male - who is capable of concealing his real intentions or objectives. You should keep a safe distance from him, and don't be at all misled by what he says. He has no real concern for you; you must not give any importance to his tall claims and/ or big promises.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 14. This number is indicative of fortune, but at the same time it also signifies challenges that bring in changes. You should remain on concrete grounds - depending on your own self, and not relying on other people's assistance or support. Besides, you should remain very careful while dealing with persons of authority and power. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should watch your words, and remain very careful in respect of your conduct. It is possible that for some of your omission or commission, the authorities might frame serious charges against you, and get you punished.

The Elemental Indicators Method of 5 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 32(Ten of Swords) :

The 1st Card: It denotes 'Significator for the Issue'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 10 of Swords. This signifies 'The Cage'. It is shown by ten naked swords in inverted position are freely falling; sometimes it is denoted by a corpse lying in inverted position with ten swords dug deep on his back. The meaning is obviously very clear; this card is a real harbinger of gross misfortune - more so if it is repeated. It signifies grief, sorrow, tears, etc - either experienced at present or going to happen soon. It may not mean destruction although, but it can cause grief or pain due to failure and desolation. A disastrous happening may undermine your confidence, while your relatives and friends may not be able to guard or help you for overcoming the problems. So, you should review your position, remain on the alert, not adopt any risky measure, and must not antagonize anybody.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 32 (= 10 of Swords) appears in upside down posture. You should therefore remain more careful and cautious. You may have to pass through a period of minor crisis; it may be a dramatic period full of intrigues. But once the period gets over, you will realize that all these were a lot of fuss - about nothing of value or importance.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 10. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies extremities - very good or very bad, steep rise or precipitous fall, love or hate, arrogance or fear, etc. It does not offer any sort of middling or neutral result. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. First of all, you should reconsider your position and decisions for ensuring that you are not committing any major mistake - which could bring in serious troubles for you. You must remain very careful, cautious, and very alert.

Card 2 - 54(Four of Pentacles) :

The 2nd Card: It denotes 'Impact on Physical Level'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 4 of Pentacles. This signifies 'Power'. This symbolizes basic understanding, careful planning, hard work, etc; it is quite queer that it also signifies sudden and unexpected developments. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that you will derive much of benefit owing to sudden change of circumstances. But you should remain alert and prepared. If you can understand the situation well, able to plan carefully, and willing to work hard, then you will very soon see the dawn of prosperity.

Card 3 - 61('Valet' of Pentacles) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Impact on Intellectual Level'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Pentacles. It is shown as a scholarly and reflective young boy (in some cases, a scholarly young girl) in a happy mood is standing in a field, holding a glittering coin in his/ her both hands or balancing it on the tips of his/ her fingers for showing it (to others); he/ she is well dressed, very pleased with himself/ herself, and admiring his/ her possession of the coin. It signifies a well-educated and intelligent person of refined nature and courteous behavior - probably having some artistic inclinations as well. But owing to tender age and lack of experience, the person might be more sensitive, less aware of reality, and somewhat impractical. Often this card brings in some good news or message; it indicates a period of enjoyment, pleasure, and satisfaction. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates a banal person - who is interest-oriented, and of prodigal nature or dissipating habits; it may also bring in some disappointment or bad news.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are still quite favorable for you. Even if there is conflict, you can look forward to having it resolved by your own initiative. A relative or a friend will actively assist you in this regard; alternately, it might be resolved owing to unexpected change of circumstances. If you are concerned about someone else, then very soon you will receive very surprising good news.

Card 4 - 56(Six of Pentacles) :

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 6 of Pentacles. This signifies 'Beauty'. It is shown as a prosperous person in a happy mood is giving away corns to an elderly couple - appearing to be very poor and in great want. The meaning is very clear; it signifies that the person is very good-natured, and is in very comfortable circumstances, and he/ she is very much eager to assist/ help people - who are in want. The person is endowed with abundance and plenty, and he/ she has enough to spare; besides, he/ she cares enough about others, and considers the justification of his/ her prosperity as a means of assisting/ helping others as much as possible. It also indicates that the person has a kind nature and generous instincts; he/ she possesses the ability and wherewithal to do some praiseworthy humanitarian deeds. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates ill feeling, jealousy, envy, hatred, fretfulness, etc; the person may be suffering from confusion of thought or illusion, and might become very unhappy after incurring big losses.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 6. It symbolizes quiet circumstances, smooth activities, adjustment, balance, etc; it also stands for harmony, love, and romance. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that circumstances will become highly favorable for you. You are likely to acquire the legendary 'Midas Touch', and whatever you will lay your hands on is likely to turn into proverbial gold.

Card 5 - 59(Nine of Pentacles) :

The 5th Card: It denotes 'Impact on Emotional Level'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 9 of Pentacles. This signifies 'The Zenith'. It is shown as a set of nine glittering coins have been kept in a frame in a neatly arranged manner - and the frame is hung on the wall; and a beautiful young female is engrossed in her own thoughts and wearing a new apparel. This card signifies the presence of order, and security in possessions and relationships; the person possesses the wisdom and experience, and knows very well how to deal with occasionally arising problems in any situation. He/ She will be successful in all endeavors, and is well aware of what success leads to and feels like; his/ her well set goals will be accomplished very soon. Sometimes, this card indicates recreational activities, and enjoying a well-earned vacation in a wonderful place. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then you must remain very careful and cautious; it indicates possibility of misplaced trust, trickery, or deception - for which plans may not be executed in a desired manner.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 9. It symbolizes finalization, completeness, inevitable outcome, etc; it also signifies originality, initiative, and drive - but at the same time it also indicates naivety and vulnerability. The Decisive Method of 5 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 44(Eight of Cups) :

The 1st Card: It denotes 'Affirmation'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 8 of Cups. This signifies 'Still Waters'. It is shown as a set of four cups is laid down on a table, and above this set, another set of four cups have been kept on a tray. It indicates the current situation you are facing or the enterprise you are associated with; it may also indicate a recent event or something you are planning to do. You may have been assured that you will receive your share in time, but as you are exercising too much of things, then you are going to complicate the process for you and lose your opportunity of making hay while the sun shines. You should neither be timid, nor feel shy; you must develop a clear notion about your own worth, make the right moves in time, and act in a prudent manner for realizing your ambitions. There is another point that the thing you are associated with or concerned about is not that important at all, and you will soon realize that. You should therefore adopt a more practical point of view for fulfilling your desired objectives.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 44 (= 8 of Cups) appears in upside down posture. You may tend to feel that a difficult situation has been imposed on you, and the things are rushing out of your hand. Probably you are afraid that a relationship is reaching its end fast. But, did you ever try to explore the possibilities to sort the things out? There might still be some scope left for you.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 8. It symbolizes caution, discipline, wisdom gained through experience, ability, efficiency, prudence, farsightedness, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You may be given some burdensome responsibilities, and may have to face challenging circumstances. In spite of best of your efforts, you may not be successful in your efforts. You may feel very sad, and your mind might become filled with despair.

Card 2 - 68(Four of Wands) :

The 2nd Card: It denotes 'Negation'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 4 of Wands. This signifies 'Mastery'. It is shown as the right hand (of a person) in one side is holding the right hand (of another person) in close embrace - while each of these two hands are holding two slim wands tightly in a cross position. This is a very auspicious card; it signifies the end of strife and quarrels - which had continued for a long duration, and formation of ties for mutual benefit - which will last for a long duration. As all the disagreements have been amicably resolved, it is a time for relaxing and rejoicing; this card improves understanding in business relationships, and brings in harmony in family relationships. It symbolizes enjoyment, gaiety, and social activities; there might be an auspicious celebration in the family, and an addition to it by marriage or childbirth. Even if the card appears in an upside down posture, then also the meaning will be similar - but diplomatic reasons could lead to the formation of the relationships, and these could be more interest-oriented.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 68 (= 4 of Wands) appears in upside down posture. You may have become unhappy with a new acquaintance - whom you have considered to be a nice gentleman, but who had lately proved to be a grossly dishonest person. If you have recently shifted your residence, then you may find the new place is not that good as you had expected; or you might be concerned about some problem in connection with property-matters.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 4. This symbolizes basic understanding, careful planning, hard work, etc; it is quite queer that it also signifies sudden and unexpected developments. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, it indicates that - owing to unexpected developments and adverse change of circumstances - your plans may not prove to be very effective; and In spite of hard work, you may not be able to derive the expected beneficial results. You should therefore remain fully alert and prepared to meet with the forthcoming challenges.

Card 3 - 77('Queen' of Wands) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Discussion'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Queen' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed matured lady of honorable disposition is seated on a throne wearing a feminine crown - by holding a wand on her right hand, and a sunflower with a long stem on her left. The wand is taller than her, but she is not looking at it; she is looking forward with an intelligent, friendly, confiding gesture. She is in relaxed mood, conscious about her position, and at ease with herself. This card signifies a wealthy lady - who had acquired the financial standing herself. She is generous, loving, kind, sensible, and practical in case of relationships. If the enquirer is a male person, then this card may signify his wife or would-be wife; but if the enquirer is a female person, then it will mean a long-time friend and confidante. If this card indicates a situation, then it indicates a new venture - for which you will receive financial assistance and advice; by utilizing the qualities you possess, you will be successful in your efforts.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 13. This number is indicative of upheaval; but its intrinsic significations are that upheavals bring in some drastic changes, which are very desired. The 4th Card: It denotes 'Solution'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to Ace (= 1) of Swords. This signifies 'Force'. It is shown by a strong masculine right hand gripping an upright naked sword by the hilt, and around the tip of the sword is a crown decorated with vines or branches. It is a card of triumph by use of force, and it invariably denotes a degree of excessiveness; it might have been acquired by physical might, superiority acquired by learning martial arts, power of arms, force of will, positional power, personal influence, or circumstantial advantage. It stands for the ultimate victory by inflicting crushing defeat to the enemy or opponent. It indicates that a fertile field is lying before you, in which you will have limitless prosperity. It assures that your goals will be achieved, and desires fulfilled.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained an 'Ace' card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 1. This symbolizes creativity, signifies beginning, and offers much of scope for original action. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, an auspicious beginning is indicated - which is likely to bring in a favorable outcome for you in the long run.

Card 5 - 31(Nine of Swords) :

The 5th Card: It denotes 'Determination'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 9 of Swords. This signifies 'Eye of Fire'. It is shown by four pairs of open swords kept hung on the wall in slant upright position on either side of a vertical upright sword; in the bottom of the left hand corner, there is the symbol of Mars. This card is considered to be the worst card in the shuffle - more so if it is repeated in the shuffle. It signifies unhappiness, illness, failure, incurring losses, despair, and cruelty. You may have an unrelenting enemy, who is of cruel nature. If you have done something wrong, or if you are planning to do so, then be warned that you will be caught and punished. But if you are taking up a new project, you should reconsider your position for ensuring that selfish greed has not lopsided your views.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 31 (= 9 of Swords) appears in upside down posture. You should therefore remain more careful and cautious. You may have to pass through a difficult phase; your loved ones might desert you. But you should not feel very disheartened. This is only going to be a testing-period - the storm will pass over pretty soon.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 9. It symbolizes finalization, completeness, inevitable outcome, etc; it also signifies originality, initiative, and drive - but at the same time it also indicates naivety and vulnerability. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You are likely to have overlooked some errors, or inadvertently made some mistakes, in some task you have recently completed. It may have resulted due to distractions caused by someone at the last stages, but you might be held responsible for the disaster.

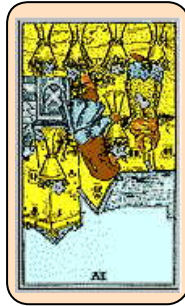

Overall Conclusion : While shuffling the Cards, none of the three fateful Cards of Tarot - # 13, # 16, and # 22 - has appeared in the spread. Its indications are highly favorable for you. You can look forward to having your cherished desires fulfilled.

This Card corresponds to 7 of Wands. This signifies 'Many Tongues'. It is shown as the right hand (of a person) in one side is holding the right hand (of another person) in close embrace - while each of these two hands are tightly holding three slim wands in parallel, and the set of wands of each other are mutually in a cross position; besides, there is another wand held in between the two sets in a vertical position. This is a very auspicious card; it is called 'The Treasury Symbol'. It signifies that success will be achieved by courage, determination, and strength of will. It always brings in good profit and large gains, and at times it involves active participation of or receiving wholehearted support from a third person - who is having friends in high places. For starting of a new venture - although it involves an element of risk - the time-period is highly favorable for you. You can look forward to receiving large sums as loan sanctioned to you by some large financial establishments. If this card appears in upside down posture, then it asks you not to hesitate, to make up your mind, and resort to action in right earnest.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 7. It symbolizes peace, tranquility, solitude, inward search, trust, faith, etc. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, the indications are very favorable for you. Your circumstances will be very peaceful and quiet. You are likely to be drawn to the occult subjects, and may acquire a fair degree of insight for deciphering the divine intentions. Your people will remain very trustworthy and loyal to you, and make you pleased with their praiseworthy performances.

Card 3 - 34('Knight' of Swords) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes the 'Future'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Knight' of Swords. It is shown as a matured, experienced, and strong fearless young man riding a fast-racing horse by holding a naked upright sword in an attacking posture - charging at someone at a distance. He enjoys the support of others - who are ready to assist him for inflicting serious injury to the prey. He is not as powerful as the King or Queen, but he is testing and showing his ability in order to become such a powerful person in future. As such, he is not at all subtle or tactful; rather he is a symbol of wrathfulness and violence. This card is indicative of danger, and signifies the possibility of having violent confrontation with a powerful person - in which case there is no chance of gaining victory or even arriving at a compromise.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 34 (= 'Knight' of Swords) appears in upside down posture. You should therefore remain very careful and cautious, and avoid any possibility to get entangled into direct confrontation with an impatient, headstrong, and powerful young man - who does not have any respect for the opinion of any other person - when it differs from his own. You should therefore try to deal with the situation with diplomacy, tact, prudence, and farsightedness.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 12. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies sacrifice of some sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not at all favorable. You should and must remain very careful, cautious, and always on the alert. In your circle, you may have some secret enemies in disguise as friends, who are trying to distance you from your true friends and supporters. There might be some design or intrigue in the background. If you do not act wisely, then you may end up becoming a victim, and have to pay a high price.

The Casual Method of 3 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 33('Valet' of Swords) :

The 1st Card: It denotes 'Morning to Noon'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Swords. Shown as a less mature young boy or girl - who is not armored, but is well dressed and holding a naked sword in upright position, and waving it in a ready to attack posture. The person is not very powerful, but he/ she is prying, spiteful, and malicious individual. Whereas the experienced Knight can risk his own life for defending someone else's life or honor, the Valet of Swords is a worthless pretender - who can cause serious harm to an unarmed or weaker person, only to show that he/ she is no less powerful - being confident of getting away unscathed owing to having his/ her connection with the powers. This card indicates presence of a false friend in your circle - who is a master of innuendo and underhand actions, and signifies possibility of betrayal, treachery, deception, or spread of rumor.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 33 (= 'Valet' of Swords) appears in upside down posture. You should therefore remain very careful and cautious. If you are concerned about any contract or agreement, then there are chances that some deliberate error or omission might be contained therein. You may have to deal with a cunning person - who is poles apart from honesty, and is a habitual trouble-monger. You must remain alert for guarding your safety and/ or interests.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should remain very careful and cautious, and must consider all pros and cons before taking any major decision. You must also try your level best to avoid any possibility of conflict - if you don't wish to have complications of serious sort. If you are concerned about someone else, then a chance of receiving a startling bad news hangs on.

Card 2 - 40(Four of Cups) :

The 2nd Card: It denotes 'Noon to Evening'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 4 of Cups. This signifies 'The Flood'. It is shown by four cups kept in four corners with a hand holding a long stemmed flower in full bloom in the center. In the left hand bottom corner, there is the symbol of Moon, and in the right hand bottom corner, there is the symbol of sign Cancer. It therefore has something to do with the mind, sentiment, home, comfort, etc. Termed as 'Blended Pleasure', this card is said to be a card of friendly counsel or mother's guidance; it is an indication of mild warning - which insists on for changing your negative outlook. Owing to your own dissatisfaction, you may refrain from recognizing or appreciating an advantage. In case of love or marriage, ask yourself if you like to become a lone old eagle? If your answer is not affirmative, then get rid of your discontent, and enjoy some sugar and honey of life.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 40 (= 4 of Cups) appears in upside down posture. If you are not taking any interest in the people and things around you, then you are going to lose your interest in the life itself; your dissatisfaction could lead you to deep depression. Why not try to seek good advice from your close relatives, friends, and sympathizers? Trust yourself; you can definitely improve.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 4. This symbolizes basic understanding, careful planning, hard work, etc; it is quite queer that it also signifies sudden and unexpected developments. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, it indicates that - owing to unexpected developments and adverse change of circumstances - your plans may not prove to be very effective; and In spite of hard work, you may not be able to derive the expected beneficial results. You should therefore remain fully alert and prepared to meet with the forthcoming challenges.

Card 3 - 63('Queen' of Pentacles) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Evening and Night'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Queen' of Pentacles. It is shown as a well-dressed matured healthy female seated on a throne wearing a feminine crown - holding a coin in her right hand for displaying it to the viewer; in her left hand she is holding a scepter as a symbol of her authority and power - but she is in a happy mood as she is smiling. The meaning is clear: it represents a respectable lady of regal/ noble descent - who is a symbol of wisdom, prudence, wealth, and security; she is also fully conscious of her authority and power - both for bestowing rewards and awarding punishment. It describes a comfortable situation in perfect order - with financial security and prudent management of financial affairs. It represents hope in the form of inherited and acquired abilities, and also the awareness of possessing the abilities - with which all the obstacles and impediments can be overcome. However, if this card appears in the upside down posture, then it indicates a lady of suspicious nature; or a situation that is full of suspense, suspicion, and fear of evil.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 63 (= 'Queen' of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. You are probably facing some problems of pretty serious sort owing to the whims of a formidable opponent - probably a middle-aged female - who is wealthy, powerful, or influential. Even if you are not concerned with money-matters, still you should remain very wary of her - as she might be spiteful, and even have some mean motives. It is not your fault for which she must cause you troubles; but the reason is that she derives special pleasure by creating troubles for others.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 13. This number is indicative of upheaval; but its intrinsic significations are that upheavals bring in some drastic changes, which are very desired. You should therefore remain fully alert and prepared to meet with the forthcoming challenges.

Card 2 - 66(Two of Wands) :

The 2nd Card: It denotes 'Profession/ Business'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 2 of Wands. This signifies 'The Crossing'. It is shown as a strong black hand holding two slim wands tightly in a cross position. This is not an auspicious card at all; it indicates the possibility of some sudden and unexpected development - arising from unforeseen causes; it may be social unrest, political upheaval, abrupt change of government or its policies, natural calamity, or the like. Regardless of whatever it actually is - which might catch the person by surprise - it is very much likely to bring in losses of a high magnitude that might result in crumbling or collapsing of a newly started venture. If this card appears in upright posture, then it indicates the possibility of arising of serious problems stemming from unforeseen causes. You may meet with many obstacles and impediments, and face stiff opposition from the very people - who were expected to support you wholeheartedly. But if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates that you might be in for a surprise soon, and face many troubles - which might invoke strong feelings.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 66 (= 2 of Wands) appears in upside down posture. Perhaps you have become quite worried by finding that lately your deals are falling apart, and/ or your plans are getting beset by inordinate delays. This is not a time for having smooth progress; you should better concentrate on your routine affairs only, and wait for a better period for starting anything new. If you have travel plans, then it is better to postpone them; otherwise, you may run the risk of being stranded or way-laid.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 2. This symbolizes imagination, harmony, union, fertility, and possibility of conception. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, it indicates that there is something wrong in a recently introduced new factor, like a person, or a place, or a thing, or circumstances - from which you are less likely to derive any benefit in near future.

Card 3 - 51(Ace of Pentacles) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Love/ Marriage'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to Ace (= 1) of Pentacles. This signifies 'Form'. It is shown as a very large and strong hand appearing out of a cloud is holding a large-sized round coin balanced on the palm - while some kind of design or decoration is growing out of the top or from the bottom. This is the card of success, achievement, and material gains of a high order. It indicates a person who has started a new venture or is going to start one soon. The person is highly capable, and he/ she perfectly knows how to get things done in the way he/ she likes. It assures abundance, plenty, money, status, power, and all such things that contributes to overall prosperity. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it will indicate that there might some people in the person's circle - who will feel very jealous and unhappy at the person's success; alternately, or in addition, the person might become addicted to the evils of wealth and attainment.

- The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Acquaintances and Associates'.

The Casual Method of 3 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 20(The last Judgment) :

The 1st Card: It denotes 'Relatives and very close Friends'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This is Trumps Card # 20. It stands for 'Karma', or the last Judgment (Le Jugement). It corresponds to the Hebrew letter 'Resh'. It represent the clearing of all doubts, and arriving at the final and conclusive decision. It indicates highly favorable results, and fruitful outcome; and it heralds the beginning of a new prosperous life. It will surely bring in a complete change, and certainly the conditions will be improved for the better by far. It is pictured as a divine figure of an winged angel, blowing on the victory trumpet, by leaning from a cloud - while below down the nude human figures of two or three persons - male and female both - being wonder-struck are looking above with the expression of awe clearly evident on their faces.

Symbolic Significations of the Card :

The Resurrection: Spiritual awakening, genius, aspiration, new regime, work, occupation, utility.

Allegorical Significations of the Card :

Denoted by 'The Resurrection'. It signifies that you are going to evolve and attain a higher spiritual plane. Your erstwhile consciousness and personal perceptions shall be dissolved to make way for deepest possible understanding. As you have crossed the final stage of knowledge, you are going to be resurrected to a completely new stage; you will realize that you are in a position to comprehend the incomprehensible. In the grand scheme of lifecycle, you are entering a new aeon; and it will happen to you naturally and beautifully. You must not be afraid of the change that is going to take place; as you have ascended by your own right, you are sure the get the rewards due.

In the shuffle, the Card #20 appears in inverted (or upside down) position - thereby indicating the possibility of a not-so-favorable outcome. You may have got into difficulties with some person or may have developed strong differences with some close relation. Some undesired developments might make you worried, and you may think that you may had taken a wrong decision, or adopted a stern stand on some issue; you may also consider about softening your stand - for offering your adversary a second chance. But it would rather be more advisable for you to safeguard your interests; even severance of ties is a better option than arriving at a compromise with such people - who wants to cheat or rob you.

Card 2 - 75('Valet' of Wands) :

The 2nd Card: It denotes 'Family members staying together'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Wands. It is shown as a well-dressed beautiful young boy (or girl) standing in a country setting by holding a wand - which is a bit taller than him - in both of his hands in front of him, and is looking at its top end. His attitude is casual and posture is relaxed. It indicates a person of sensitive nature, but he/ she is faithful - although somewhat lacking in maturity and experience. This card signifies that you can look forward to receive some pleasant news or a message from a young relative or a friend; or it may have some connection with your profession/ business. If this card appears in upright posture, then you will feel relaxed and remain free from worry. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then the news might be from- or about- your rival or competitor, and as such it can be a source of worry to you. Either way, this card normally does not indicate a very unfavorable outcome; therefore, you must not give up your hopes.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 75 (= 'Valet' of Wands) appears in upside down posture. The present time-period is not favorable. If you are having travel plans, then it will be rather better to postpone them. Otherwise, you are likely to meet with many troubles on the way. Besides, you may face some difficulties with-, or in connection with-, a teenage child - probably a boy.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 11. Its distinctive characteristics are that it invariably signifies stiff opposition and conflict of serious sort. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not very favorable. You should remain very careful and cautious, and must consider all pros and cons before taking any major decision. You must also try your level best to avoid any possibility of conflict - if you don't wish to have complications of serious sort. If you are concerned about someone else, then a chance of receiving a startling bad news hangs on.

Card 3 - 55(Five of Pentacles) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Acquaintances and Associates'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 5 of Pentacles. This signifies 'Nadir'. It is shown as five big coins on the grill of a window, and a couple inside a room; while the sad young female looking downward appears to be distressed, the young male with his eyes closed and one foot injured is limping with his crutches in utter despair. The meaning is obviously clear: this card is indicative of warning, and it signifies possibility of failure in business, incurring heavy losses, reversal of fortune, financial inconvenience, physical distress, and mental agony. It indicates little success in business or an apparently bright change in profession - while it has the potential danger of leading to a wrecking disaster in near future. You should therefore remain very careful and cautious, watch your every step, and act only after a thorough consideration of all pros and cons. You must stay away from risky ventures, speculative investments, and lending money to others. You should depend on what you have, and must not depend on what you expect.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 55 (= 5 of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. You may need to change your outlook, and even your lifestyle. Although you may have been fairly conscious about it, still you appear to be quite reluctant to do so - as you may think it might cause you embarrassment. But you should reconsider your position - if you do not wish to fall in a deeper pit.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcanas' of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 5. It symbolizes excitement, movement, adventure, advancement, victory, etc. Since this card appeared in upside down (or negative) posture, its indications are not favorable. The Casual Method of 3 Cards' spread

Card 1 - 42(Six of Cups) :

The 1st Card: It denotes 'Significator for the Issue'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 6 of Cups. This signifies 'Faith'. It is shown as a set of six cups is held in a frame - which is hung on the wall. Termed as 'In Ector's Keeping', this is the card of sweet memories of the past and looking back in search of happiness. Your experiences due to the prevailing situations of the recent past might have had instilled a growing sense of discontent; it is reflected by this card, and it indicates that you can rediscover happiness. If you are looking back and remembering memories of happiness, then you are probably recalling your childhood days; ask yourself whether you can set the clock back? Don't brood over what you have lost, and try to understand that you can be happy once again. This card signifies the possible entry of someone into your life, or the occurring of some happy event will effect a radical change in your outlook, and you will be able to recognize the good things of life once again.

Numerological Interpretations of the Card :

While shuffling, you have obtained a card of the Minor 'Arcana' Cards of Tarot, which corresponds to No. 6. It symbolizes quiet circumstances, smooth activities, adjustment, balance, etc; it also stands for harmony, love, and romance. As this card appeared in upright (or positive) posture, it indicates that circumstances will become highly favorable for you. You are likely to acquire the legendary 'Midas Touch', and whatever you will lay your hands on is likely to turn into proverbial gold.

Card 2 - 56(Six of Pentacles) :

The 2nd Card: It denotes 'Actions taken or to be taken'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to 6 of Pentacles. This signifies 'Beauty'. It is shown as a prosperous person in a happy mood is giving away corns to an elderly couple - appearing to be very poor and in great want. The meaning is very clear; it signifies that the person is very good-natured, and is in very comfortable circumstances, and he/ she is very much eager to assist/ help people - who are in want. The person is endowed with abundance and plenty, and he/ she has enough to spare; besides, he/ she cares enough about others, and considers the justification of his/ her prosperity as a means of assisting/ helping others as much as possible. It also indicates that the person has a kind nature and generous instincts; he/ she possesses the ability and wherewithal to do some praiseworthy humanitarian deeds. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates ill feeling, jealousy, envy, hatred, fretfulness, etc; the person may be suffering from confusion of thought or illusion, and might become very unhappy after incurring big losses.

Card 3 - 61('Valet' of Pentacles) :

The 3rd Card: It denotes 'Resolution/ Final Outcome'.

Meaning and Definition of the Card :

This Card corresponds to the 'Valet' of Pentacles. It is shown as a scholarly and reflective young boy (in some cases, a scholarly young girl) in a happy mood is standing in a field, holding a glittering coin in his/ her both hands or balancing it on the tips of his/ her fingers for showing it (to others); he/ she is well dressed, very pleased with himself/ herself, and admiring his/ her possession of the coin. It signifies a well-educated and intelligent person of refined nature and courteous behavior - probably having some artistic inclinations as well. But owing to tender age and lack of experience, the person might be more sensitive, less aware of reality, and somewhat impractical. Often this card brings in some good news or message; it indicates a period of enjoyment, pleasure, and satisfaction. However, if this card appears in upside down posture, then it indicates a banal person - who is interest-oriented, and of prodigal nature or dissipating habits; it may also bring in some disappointment or bad news.

In the TAROT spread, the Card # 61 (= 'Valet' of Pentacles) appears in upside down posture. You may have to deal with someone who thinks himself/ herself more important than he/ she actually is. He/ She might be reluctant to take unnecessary risks, and thereby might cause blocking of your prospect of advancement. You can change the situation to your favor if you can appeal to his/ her heart by using your head in a subtle manner; this is since the motive of the person is not at all suspect.
